

Public Works Plan Outlined To Create Jobs

Official Says Roosevelt Will Ask Billion And Half LONG-TERM LOANS Would Advance Money To Cities, Counties For Projects

Washington—(AP)—A high administration official said today that President Roosevelt contemplates recommending to congress a $1,500,000,000 public works program in a new recovery drive to end the recession, restore employment and revitalize the nation's business.

At the same time the White House announced that Harry Hopkins, administrator, and Aubrey Williams, deputy administrator, of the works progress administration, would confer with the president today on work relief.

Williams has said that a much greater emergency relief fund would be needed soon if the government was to care for the new thousands of unemployed, born of the recession.

Roosevelt Hopes For Solution of Railroad Problem

Would Avoid Wage Cuts if Possible, Association Head Says

Washington—(AP)—J. J. Pelley, president of the American Association of Railroad, said after a White House conference today that President Roosevelt had expressed the hope that the railroad's troubles could be worked out without the necessity of cutting wages.

Pelley was asked by reporters whether Mr. Roosevelt had given his views on wage cuts inasmuch as there have been reports reduction of wages would be necessary to reduce operating costs of the nation's financially distressed rail systems.

"I think the president knows how we feel about wage cuts," Pelley said. "But there was no particular discussion about that today."

"I think it goes without saying that the president would like to see the whole thing worked out without reducing wages."

Pelley said the president was greatly interested in the problem of raising the roads' income. There are three ways, the railroad executive said, in which this might be accomplished:

1—By getting more for services, that is higher freight rates. The A. A. R. president said, however, that this "seems to be settled, at least for the moment, indicating that there is little likelihood the carriers will ask the I. C. C. for further increases at this time."

2—By paying less for the services performed for the railroads, that is, wage cuts.

3—By saving money through consolidations, Pelley characterized this as a relatively slow method which would require some time to be worked out.

Loans to Cities

The new public works program plan, it was learned authoritatively, calls for federal bond issues to raise the $1,500,000,000. This money, in turn, would be lent to cities, counties and other political subdivisions to finance local building programs. It was understood President Roosevelt would ask congress to authorize raising the billion and a half by sale of bonds.

It was understood the money would be lent to states and cities without interest for periods as long as 50 years and would be repayable in small annual amounts, probably about 2 per cent.

The public works loan plan would be one phase of the administration's program for aiding business and increasing employment.

3,000 Requests at Hand

To get the works program started quickly, the government has on file a reservoir of approximately 3,000 proposed works projects which can be brought up for reconsideration.

Some sources close to the White House said the president desired primarily to stimulate business by this new program, suggestive in its size and extensiveness of the programs Mr. Roosevelt formulated to fight the depression in the early days of his administration.

Coupled with this, it was understood, the president plans to push housing and slum clearance undertakings financed by federal appropriations and providing for the construction of homes, multiple-family houses and apartment buildings.

Behind the entire program lies the president's desire to stimulate heavy industries as a means of giving all business new impetus.

No Fixed Rules

Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation advised business men today he would consider their loan applications individually.

"I have no fixed rules for handling applications. I consider each one on its own merits," Jones explained in discussing the broadening lending power to be conferred on the RFC by congress.

The legislation will go to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature as soon as minor differences between the house and senate versions are reconciled.

"The main thing this bill does for business men," Jones continued, "is to permit them to get loans from us for longer terms."

Removes Time Limit

Formerly the RFC could make business loans only until 1945. The new measure removes that limitation.

No New Delay Is Asked for Duncan

Council Must Give at Least Three Days' Advance Notice

Milwaukee—(AP)—District attorney Herbert J. Steffes said today he had received no notice that another delay would be sought in the preliminary hearing for Thomas M. Duncan, Governor LaFollette's executive secretary, on a first degree manslaughter charge scheduled for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, although Duncan still was reported confined to a Madison hospital.

When the hearing was adjourned last Thursday for the second time, District Judge Henry Neelen instructed Duncan's counsel to notify Steffes at least three days in advance by Friday noon—if further delay was sought.

Judge Neelen said that upon petition by the district attorney, he then would appoint two physicians to examine Duncan to check any defense claim he was unable to appear in court.

Benjamin Poss, Duncan's chief counsel, was away from Milwaukee today.

Duncan has been in the hospital since March 10, the day he was arraigned in connection with the automobile death of Henry Schutte, of West Allis.

A police report today said Victor Pozorski, 27, a state witness in the Duncan case, told detectives at county emergency hospital that he jumped through a screen off a second-story porch at his home last night because "I was disgusted because I wasn't making much money."

Pozorski, a cab driver, struck the top of a board fence in the fall he suffered a back injury and bruises.

Operators of Street Cars Begin Strike

Ignore Ultimatum to Return to Jobs in Detroit Or Face Discharge

INJUNCTION ISSUED

Strikers Restrained from Interfering With Buses Or Street Cars

Detroit—(AP)—Union street car operators who struck at 4 a. m. today, paralyzing transportation service on which 700,000 Detroiters depend defied this afternoon an ultimatum that they return to work or be discharged.

An hour before the 2 p. m. deadline set by officials of the municipally operated street car system, the strikers, members of an American Federation of Labor union, voted 1,305 to 17 to continue the strike until a system-wide seniority system is put into effect.

At almost the same time Circuit Judge Dewitt H. Merriam issued a temporary injunction restraining the strikers from "interfering, molesting, picketing, damaging or in any way preventing" the city and its employees from operating motor buses or street cars.

The court acted on petition of Mayor Richard Reading.

Union leaders said the vote to continue the strike "legalized" what had been termed "wildcat" strike.

At the rush hour this morning no street cars were operating and automobile traffic was moving slowly because of the appearance of thousands of additional motorists on the streets.

But lines were operating under police protection, taxicabs were doing the best business in years and thousands walked or thumbed rides.

The Detroit Street railway, a municipal system, which also operates the bus lines, announced that all striking employees would be discharged if they were not back on the job at 2 p. m. today.

Riotous Session

The weather favored the pedestrians. Contrary to forecast it was a bright sunny day, although cold. The strike was called, in a riotous session last night, by the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (A. F. of L.). The amalgamated seeks seniority rights covering both street car and bus employees in one line of precedence. At present the bus men operate under a separate seniority plan.

In voting the strike, in a closed meeting, the men shouted down their leaders. There were several fist fights.

Insurgent Forces Continue Gains

Occupy Vallibona, 22 Miles from Vinaroz On Seacoast

Hendaye, France, at the Spanish frontier—(AP)—Government defenses crumbled before a fresh insurgent march to Spain's east coast today as insurgent red and gold banners fluttered at the village of Vallibona.

The village is 22 miles from the seacoast city of Vinaroz. General Franco's armored columns there threatened to outflank the government left wing defending the Ebro river delta city of Tortosa from positions in the Razas and Montenegro mountains.

The insurgent right wing marched down from Morella while fierce counterattacks from reinforced government units staved off further frontal advances upon Tortosa.

Simultaneous action along the northern Catalan front brought the city of Balaguer—northern end of the government's new defense line between Lerida and Barcelona—under insurgent control.

Here, too, General Jose Moscard's column was attempting an encirclement to outflank the strong government positions on the Ebro, reaching southward to Gornova Blanca.

Mop up squads continued operations in the north Aragon territory, threatening to send a fresh influx of refugees into neutral France.

French border officials massed troops at Port de Plan, Bagneres de Luchon and Fos in expectation of the arrival of thousands of refugees.

Signs Bill to Regulate Fishing on Great Lakes

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt signed yesterday a bill authorizing interstate compacts to establish uniform commercial fishing regulations on the Great Lakes.

Representative Luecke (D-Mich.), author of the bill, said he was "very glad that this thing has gone through."

"The Great Lakes states are very anxious to proceed with something that will accomplish uniformity of regulations."

Japs Consider Control Over Western Pacific Imperative, Admiral Says

Tokio—(AP)—Japan feels it "imperative" she maintain command of the western Pacific and is concerned gravely over the possibility the United States might expand her sphere of influence there, Rear Admiral Kiyoshi Noda, admiralty spokesman, said today.

Discussing the speech on foreign policy by Secretary Hull on March 17 and his letter on April 3 to Chairman Walsh of the senate naval committee, apposing a stay-at-home policy for the navy, and holding it must be free to defend Americans anywhere, Admiral Noda asserted: "The fact that Mr. Hull sent a letter at this particular time is of special interest to us. Formerly the United States seemed to regard the mainland coasts and Panama as the sole points necessary to defend."

"As late as Jan. 31, Admiral Leahy (chief of United States naval operations) stated a strategic triangle running from the Aleutians to Hawaii, Samoa and Panama was the defense line."

"Now Mr. Hull expresses strong opposition to any such theoretical frontier. Hence, it appears America is advancing her sphere rapidly westward. Japan cannot but watch with gravest concern."

He declined to say whether Japan saw the possibility of collision with United States expansion, and reaffirmed Japan's "attitude remains as before—one of non-aggression."

Declining to say exactly what was the area Japan regarded as under her guardianship, the admiralty spokesman explained only that "it is the area necessary to defend from the standpoint of our national security. From this viewpoint it is imperative that we maintain command of the western Pacific. However, so long as others do not take a position of menace Japan will not do so either."

Council Takes First Step to Repair Paving

Orders Board to Test Avenue Resurfacing Material

MAYOR OPENS PROBE

Accept $25,000 From County Board for Fourth Ward Paving

The resurfacing material on College avenue again took the spotlight in city politics last night when Mayor John Goodland opened a council session with the question, "Well, men, what are you going to do about College avenue?"

After the discussion the board of public works was ordered to launch an investigation, to secure tests from laboratories and to get expert advice if necessary to determine the worth of the paving material.

Alderman Steinhauer took the floor after the mayor's question and moved that the clerk notify the contractor to fix the pavement as soon as possible.

Board Meets Today

The board of public works will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon to begin its investigation of the College avenue pavements. Samples of the resurfacing materials will be secured and will be sent to various laboratories to be tested.

soon as possible. Alderman McGill came back with: "Why do anything about it? The contractor said he'd fix the pavement as good as new."

Mayor Suggests Test

The mayor then suggested that sample tests of the paving material be sent to laboratories to see what is wrong with it. He said: "If the stuff is no good, there's no use putting it back on the street. We can't keep shutting off the avenue because, if we do, business men will object."

Alderman Franzke favored getting expert advice to see if the street can be repaired before at

Two Killed When Cars Crash Near Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(AP)—Two persons were killed and a third critically injured in a head-on automobile collision near here last night.

Robert Strand, 20, of county highway, N. near Waukesha, and Fred Fido, 21, of Wauwatosa, and Adolf Strand, 49, father of Robert and driver of one of the cars, suffered possible internal injuries and fractures of both legs and of the skull. Fido was alone in the other car.

The crash occurred on highway 15 near the Milwaukee city limits. The automobiles were so badly wrecked it was necessary to cut away metal parts with a blow torch before the bodies could be extricated.

3 British Fliers Killed When Plane Explodes

London—(AP)—Three royal air force fliers were killed today when their reconnaissance plane exploded and fell into the North sea.

The air ministry officially identified the plane which had been the object of a widespread search near Dudgeon light, off the Humber estuary, where it was seen to burst into flame. Searchers found only oil patches and bits of wreckage.

The crash was the thirty-fourth in the royal air force since Jan. 1, and raised its death toll to 58 since the war began.

The plane had been on a night routine navigation flight and last had radioed all well.

Find Cancer Serum Cause of 11 Deaths

Orlando, Fla.—(AP)—A coroner's jury verdict on file today states that a cancer serum containing tetanus toxin caused the deaths of 11 persons during the past week.

The patients died, the jury reported last night, "as a result of cancer serum Rex 152 being injected hypodermically into their bodies, said serum having been proven to contain tetanus toxin in lethal quantities."

The jury absolved of all blame a local doctor who said he treated patients with the serum.

"We further find," the jury report read, "that Dr. T. A. Neal is in no way responsible for the presence of the tetanus toxin in the serum and we absolve him from all blame and negligence in connection with the administration of said serum and the resulting deaths."

LaFollette Raps Tax Bill As 'Step Backward' After Sponsors Praise Measure

Washington—(AP)—The senate approved today a flat 15 per cent tax on capital gains as a substitute for a graduated scale of rates provided in the revenue bill passed by the house.

Taking up amendments to the tax bill recommended by the finance committee the senate approved the flat rate on capital gains without objection.

Washington—(AP)—Senator LaFollette (D-Wis.) vigorously attacked today the senate finance committee's tax bill, which sponsors contended would "go far toward removing some of the fear that exists in the country."

LaFollette declared that the bill would be "a step backward" in years-long efforts to base the tax system on ability to pay.

Condemning particularly the committee's recommendations to substitute a flat 18 per cent rate on corporations in place of an undistributed profits levy, and a flat 15 per cent tax on capital gains, LaFollette said:

"These recommendations go a long way toward destroying a progressive system of taxation."

Aid to Business

As chairman of the senate finance committee, Harrison directed the revamping of the house-approved revenue measure. His committee group struck from the house bill the administration-sponsored undistributed profits tax and drastically revised the levy on capital gains.

The changes were designed to provide new stimulus for the nation's business by redistributing profits tax.

Harrison asserted, had proved the finance committee's action foreshadowed defeat for the premier in the senate tomorrow—with the downfall of his cabinet—on his finance bill, for which he won grudging approval of the chamber of deputies yesterday.

Calls For Demonstration

The demonstration call was made in huge red posters with which Paris was plastered this morning, signed by Marcel Pivert, militant leader of the socialist left wing which planned thereby to show the mass strength of the premier's popular support.

The posters declared that "a group of dry-hearted old men in their senatorial bastille" had been "sabotaging" the work of the people's front government.

The police guard around the senate was reinforced in view of the expected demonstration. The senate finance committee, contrary to usual practice, rejected Blum's finance bill without formulating a new bill containing those parts the committee was able to accept. The committee will report to the full session of the senate tomorrow.

Seeks Alliance

France is pursuing efforts to get Czechoslovakia's neighbors to pledge defense against German Nazi encroachment in the little country, despite the acute domestic situation and the likelihood Blum's cabinet will fall before the week is out.

French Finance Group Rejects Blum's Demand

Paris—(AP)—The senate finance committee, in spite of the threat of a mass demonstration of leftists, today flatly rejected Premier Leon Blum's demand for dictatorial powers over finance by a vote of 25 to 6.

Police and mobile guards were rushed to the Luxembourg palace, home of the senate, as militant socialists, communists and anarchists began moving toward the building in response to the call of the left wing of the premier's own socialist party for a demonstration.

Leftists gathered in defiance of the shaky Blum government's ban on the mass meeting.

The more militant socialist element refused to cancel the demonstration call in spite of an interior ministry order, which Blum approved.

The finance committee's action foreshadowed defeat for the premier in the senate tomorrow—with the downfall of his cabinet—on his finance bill, for which he won grudging approval of the chamber of deputies yesterday.

Fire Destroys Tavern Building

John Heinel, also Constable, Owned by Mrs. Heinel

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a building containing the quarters and tavern of Mrs. John Heinel at the junction of Highways 45 and 76 in the town of Greenville about 2:15 this morning. Loss was estimated at over $5,000.

The Hortonville fire department with a volunteer crew of 10 men was called but the flames had made too much headway to be checked and efforts were confined to protecting nearby buildings.

Some of the furnishings were saved, but most of them were destroyed in the blaze which enveloped the structure within a short time. The fire is believed to have started in a kitchen pantry.

Tools of Ed Kluge, a carpenter, who was doing some remodeling work on the building, also were destroyed by fire at the site.

The Hortonville fire company was called to the home of Mrs. Charles Julius, Greenville, Wednesday evening, to put out a chimney fire. No damage was reported.

Constable Says He Shot 2 Men in Self-Defense

Defuniak Springs, Fla.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff J. W. Kelly said today Constable James Neal had admitted killing Sheriff C. C. Adkinson and Franklin Hendrix, prison camp guard, whose bodies were found in a highway early today.

The Walton county sheriff and Hendrix were found shot to death in front of Neal's home and Kelly said the constable claimed he fired in self-defense after the two men had attacked him.

Neal was jailed without charge pending an inquest, Kelly said.

The deputy said trouble between the two peace officers resulted from a disagreement earlier this week over a hearing for several men charged with cattle theft.

Administration Wins First Test Vote On Measure

FIGHT CONTINUES

Thrown Open to Amendment Immediately After Ballot

Washington—(AP)—The house refused today to kill the government reorganization bill. The teller vote was 191 to 169.

The ballot, a victory for the administration, was on a motion by Representative O'Connor (D-N.Y.) to "strike out the enacting clause"—without which the bill would have been ineffective and meaningless.

The measure was thrown open to amendment immediately afterward. Representative Warren (D-N.C.) offered the first of two amendments which backers of the bill had promised to meet some of the opposition protests against it. It was to exempt the federal office of education specifically from any reorganization program.

In support of the proposal, Warren announced he had been authorized to read a telegram which he said President Roosevelt received at 12:10 p. m. (E. S. T.) today from Cardinal Mundelein in Chicago.

The telegram said that "as a result of my own investigation" and on the basis of information gathered from "reliable and informed sources" the Catholic church could not find that "the welfare or freedom of the Catholic church is in any way menaced" by the pending bill.

"This is just one part of the fight," O'Connor said after his proposal lost. "There will not be a reorganization bill."

Representative Boileau (D-Wis.) proposed an amendment intended to:

Exempt both the veterans' administration and the education bureau from reorganization of the bill.

Reserve to congress the right to approve any reorganization order before it went into effect by means of a resolution which would require the president's signature.

So great was the confusion following announcement of the vote that Representative Crawford (R-Mich.) had to shout through cupped hands in an attempt to address the chair.

Asks For Roll Call

He finally asked if there was any "possible way" to obtain a roll call vote on O'Connor's motion.

Representative McCormack (D-Mass.), who was presiding, said there was none.

Shouts of "vote, vote," mingled with applause when O'Connor went down into the well of the chamber to make his proposal.

In so doing, he blocked for a short time, a series of amendments which the special reorganization committee was forced to write on the floor after a parliamentary objection by Representative Taber (R-N.Y.) had been sustained.

"Mr. Chairman," O'Connor said, "in offering my motion to strike out the enacting clause from the bill, I am taking the step which I believe the people of this country desire—and at this time."

Against Bill Itself

He said every letter and telegram coming to him from over the nation says "no compromise, no amendments will cure the bill."

"Let us see from where the strongest urge for this bill comes. I hold in my hand two issues of the Daily Worker, the organ of the Communist party. They violently support the bill and denounce the opponents as Tories and fascists who are fighting liberalism."

The New York Irishman said he could not figure out why the Communists were for the bill and what "trick" they were playing in denouncing the opponents as fascists.

"The country," he said, "believes fascism is with us, and that this bill is a further step in that direction. The people fear this bill will serve as an escalator to dictatorship."

Before O'Connor submitted his motion, the house agreed that in the event of its defeat it would

Cable Splicer Is Awarded Medal for Saving Boy's Life

Milwaukee—(AP)—Edward J. Retzlaff, 38, a cable splicer for the Wisconsin Telephone company, was awarded a Theodore N. Vail memorial medal for saving the life of Elmer Cronau, 9, last July 14, vice President John O'Day announced today.

The boy fell from a tree and sustained severe lacerations to blood vessels in his throat. Retzlaff found him unconscious, bleeding profusely. He removed a sharp branch protruding from the child's throat and applied pressure to the throat and behind the ears to check the flow. Retzlaff continued to apply pressure while enroute to a hospital in an ambulance. An attending physician said Retzlaff prevented a fatal hemorrhage.

The boy recovered.

Additional Anti-Aircraft Guns for Army Approved In Bill Passed by Senate

Bombings in Spain and China Impress Members Of Upper House

Washington—(AP)—The senate, impressed by the destructive power of aerial bombing in Spain and China, proposed today to multiply the army's supply of anti-aircraft weapons.

The $491,000,000 war department appropriation bill which the senate approved late yesterday includes funds for 308 quick-firing, 3-inch anti-aircraft guns.

General Malin Craig, chief of staff, said the army believed the new weapons were needed for "reasonably adequate protection for areas in the United States which may be subject to aerial attacks."

Adjust Differences
In response to President Roosevelt's national defense message, the house approved an outlay of $12,700,000 to increase the army's supply of anti-aircraft weapons to 141. The senate voted $11,768,770 additional for 167 others and accessories. The bill was sent to a conference committee to adjust the differences.

The guns cost about $40,000 each, exclusive of more expensive range finders and other equipment. Boosting the war department bill by some $43,000,000 to new peace-time proportions, the senate added $16,790,747 for defenses of both the Pacific and Atlantic coast of the United States and for Hawaii and the Panama Canal. The house had voted $5,748,558 for the purpose, to be expended largely on the Pacific coast.

Supporting Testimony
For the navy's top ranking officer, Admiral William D. Leahy, came supporting testimony for the harbor defenses almost as the senate acted.

Testifying on the pending bill to increase the fleet by 20 per cent, Leahy advised the senate naval committee: "It is very desirable that shore defenses should be provided to prevent raids against the cities. A single ship, or two ships, can escape from the scouting line and drive in close to San Francisco, say, and bombard the city, if they wanted to. It has been done before, and it might be done again."

Senator Bone (D-Wash.) charged that the proposed billion-dollar expansion in the navy "means giving the taxpayers' money away to the ship building companies." He said he would draft a minority committee report against the bill.

Sen. LaFollette Raps Tax Bill as 'Step Backward' tions with income of more than $25,000 to replace the house undistributed profits tax.

"With an 18 per cent flat rate, the corporations can understand what their taxes are going to be," Harrison said.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), predicted today that revenue from the pending tax bill would fall $1,000,000,000 short of estimates.

Treasury experts have estimated income from the house-approved revenue measure at $5,330,000,000. They have said changes approved by the senate finance committee would increase this amount by $20,000,000.

Vandenberg's forecast came shortly before the senate began consideration of the finance committee's bill.

"The treasury frankly said the estimates were based on business conditions at the close of 1937," he told reporters "since then all the business indices have been moving downward."

Substitute Flat Rate
Vandenberg asserted however, that Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) "did a splendid job" in overhauling the finance committee's overhauling of the house tax bill. The senate group eliminated the house-approved undistributed profits tax and substituted a flat 18 per cent rate on corporation income.

Vandenberg, a committee member, said that although he would prefer a 16 per cent flat rate on corporations, this could not be effected now without a complete revision of the senate bill.

He added, however, that it "was worth almost anything to get rid of the undistributed profits tax."

Although the levy has been supported by the administration, informed persons said its deletion would not be vigorously opposed on the senate floor.

Adjust Difference
These persons predicted the final draft of the tax bill would contain the undistributed profits tax in some form. Even if eliminated by the senate, the tax could be reinscribed by a joint conference committee.

Appleton Contractor Erecting New Store

tempts are made to fix it while Alderman Vanderheyden thought the council should allow the contractor to make repairs.

He said: "An expert said we could take care of that pavement this summer. I'd like to see that worked out before we get all steamed up. The contractor and the bonding company are responsible for the pavement for five years."

Alderman Steinhauer said: "I voted for the pavement and I'm not going to admit that the city got stung. I think the weather was responsible as well as the 'expert' we hired. We had one 'expert,' now I'm off the experts."

"Vandenberg doesn't seem to be reliable," Alderman Grignon said. "He said one section of that pavement could be repaired and we tried but couldn't repair it. I think he gave us a bum steer."

Not Satisfied
Alderman Franke said: "We took VanTrump's advice on the pavement and I hold the VanTrump Testing Laboratories partly responsible for the pavement we got. I'm not satisfied to go ahead with repairs on his advice. Let's go out and get some really expert advice."

The mayor ended the discussion when he told the council to "have some backbone and admit we have something on our hands." He said the clerk received a letter the other day from the VanTrump laboratories stating that the company's responsibility ended when the material left the mixing plant.

The mayor stated, the company had nothing to do with the laying and rolling of the pavement.

Alderman Keller said, "the board of public works got us into this now let it get us out" and moved to place the problem in the hands of board members for investigation.

Accept $25,000 Offer
The council voted to accept the county board's offer of $25,000 to aid in paving S. River street, John street and Fremont street in the Fourth ward. The engineer was authorized to draw plans and specifications and to submit an estimate of the cost at the next council session.

The mayor suggested that the council notify Koepke Construction company to begin paving Lawe street from bridge to bridge and the two blocks remaining unpaved on Packard street. Contracts for the work were awarded last year. He also suggested that something be done about the proposed Third street paving project. The paving was recommended Nov. 3 and plans were ordered drawn.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids on sidewalk repairs for 1938 and for one or more which will adjust differences between the senate and house measures.

The house bill contains a 4 per cent undistributed profits levy, and there was some speculation that a compromise might be reached on 2 or 3 per cent.

Harrison, certain to be a member of the conference committee, was expected to insist on the finance committee's version of the capital gains tax. The committee substituted a flat 15 per cent rate on capital gains for a graduated scale of rates voted by the house.

These persons predicted the final draft of the tax bill would contain the undistributed profits tax in some form. Even if eliminated by the senate, the tax could be reinscribed by a joint conference committee.

Californian Tells of Death Of Americans Fighting to Check Advance of Fascists

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY

Perpignan, France, At the Spanish Frontier—(AP)—A Californian who had acted as political commissar for the Washington and Lincoln battalions of one of the Spanish government's international brigades reached France today with a story of death among his American comrades.

John G. Honeycombe, 37, of Los Angeles, said only a few hundred out of several thousand Americans who had fought since the beginning of the Spanish civil war as volunteers for the government were still alive.

Tattered and hungry, Honeycombe crossed the frontier after what he called "the Gandesa collapse," in which 500 Americans of the Washington and Lincoln battalions were caught in the path of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's offensive.

Battalion Wiped Out
Gandesa fell last Saturday to the insurgent push toward the Mediterranean.

The Californian said the old Washington battalion was almost wiped out before Belchite, south-east of Zaragoza, where the insurgents of 8,000 to 10,000 gallons each of road oil.

Pay Legion
The park board was authorized to pay $500 to Onicy Joranson Post No. 38, American Legion, for the improvement of Memorial drive boulevard, undertaken by the Legion several years ago. The Legion at that time borrowed the money on the board's promise to pay for the work.

Licenses granted by the council included: Taxi, Yellow Cab company, garbage, G. C. Defferding, route 1, Menasha operators, Marcus Groth, 809 S. Mueller street, Raymond Clotfalk, 1824 S. Bouten street, Clifford Sherrin, 101 E. Lawrence street, Edward Swantner, 128 E. Wisconsin avenue, and Marilyn V. Zuehlke, 614 W. Third street. License applications from Sam Shiff, 1008 N. Morrison street, and Ira Houle, 118 S. Walnut street, were referred to the committee.

Tuesday's vote was canvassed and approved by aldermen. Members of the committee were Aldermen DeLand, Harriman, Keller, Knuijt, McGillan and Franke.

Members of Hi-Y clubs will leave the Y. M. C. A. at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for a hike to Center swamp. The hikers will cook their noon meal in the woods, returning to Appleton in the late afternoon. C. C. Bailey is in charge.

SECOND SMOELT RUN

Asks State G. O. P. Committee to Take Control of Party

Bolles Wants Central Group to Take Lead in Outlining Campaign

Madison—(AP)—The legal Republican State Central committee will be asked at its meeting here Saturday to assume active command of party affairs and take control of the 1938 campaign out of the hands of the voluntary executive committee headed by Edward J. Samp of Madison.

Stephen Bolles, editor of the Janesville Gazette and member of the central committee from the First Congressional district, has written to all other members asking that the committee assert itself and take the lead in mapping the campaign.

A voluntary committee was first organized by regular Republicans in 1925 when the Progressives had control of the party's legal machinery and this arrangement continued in effect after the Progressives formed their own party.

Bolles said the central committee represents in its membership of 50 every section of the state, but that the meeting Saturday was the first called since it was elected at the platform convention in 1936.

Must "Take Command"
"It was intended that the voice of the committee should be the voice of the party," he said. "The time has come to assert itself and take command of the ship."

"I believe that upon this committee and its action at Madison on Saturday depends not only the future of the Republican party in Wisconsin but whether it is to take such a position that it will make a way for all voters in the coming campaign to support candidates and principles expressing more thought for the people than for the political future of individuals. There is a demand for leadership and its organized beginning should be in this central committee."

"We must elect a chairman who will be something more than a mere figurehead or an amateur in political organization."

Would Call Convention
The campaign committee should be an executive committee of the state central committee "responsible to it for its conduct," Bolles wrote, adding that in the Saturday meeting:

"There is much to do. Among other things is to consider the calling of a convention of all interested in ending the political exploitation of Wisconsin and stopping the fascist trend in legislation. We should make it plain, it seems to me, that the governor is the agent of the people and that the people are not a mob to be led by a governor in order to give him more power."

"Then there is the question of what we can do to invite all the people of the state to support a movement which will mean an end to this state exploitation for personal ambitions. My own idea is that we should run our own show at Madison ourselves. Perhaps we may lack the intelligence but we might try it out."

"Personal ambitions, desires for power (within the party) and all of the things that have handicapped the party from time to time should be eliminated. Anything else or any other attitude will be destructive."

Commission Will Fight Rate Plea

2 Officials to Oppose Move in South for Lower Freight Charges

Madison—(AP)—Two officials of the Wisconsin Public Service commission will go to Birmingham, Ala., Saturday to oppose the move of southern governors for lower freight rates on commodities shipped to the north.

P. H. Porter, director of the transportation division, and Traffic Chief W. F. Ehmman will represent the Wisconsin commission at a hearing of the case before the interstate commerce commission. The hearing starts Monday.

Wisconsin rate experts claim that granting of lower rates to southern industry would be a severe blow to business in this state, citing as an example the pulp and paper industry which they said already is feeling the effects of southern development.

Led by Governor Bibb Graves of Alabama, the governors of Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Tennessee have joined in the drive for reduced rates. The Wisconsin commission said other northern states are fighting the plan and have employed experts to appear before the interstate commerce commission.

one contested. Other officers were reelected. John Duffy was reelected chairman of the town of Holland, defeating John Clark in the spring election Tuesday. Ed Brick, incumbent, was reelected as supervisor. Thomas Farrell was reelected treasurer without opposition. Dick Wall, incumbent, was reelected assessor over his two opponents, H. Hannon and James Fox.

Attitude Toward Taxation Changed In Report on Bill

Finance Committee Points Out Need to Stimulate Business Recovery

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — There's an epoch-making change of attitude toward the whole subject of taxation in the senate finance committee's report on the proposed tax revision bill.

The committee stresses, as has no other congressional committee in the past, the importance of taxation to economic progress in general and to employment in particular.

Hitherto, the attitude of Congress and especially the treasury department under the Roosevelt administration has been to figure out mathematically what a certain tax rate might produce in the way of revenues and then apply it irrespective of the economic consequences and damage done in dozens of other channels.

The Undistributed Surplus tax was a monumental example of this sort of folly in making tax rates, and it has taken a terrible recession in business and widespread unemployment to show the congress the error of its ways. It would seem that the Roosevelt administration itself has not yet learned the lesson, but a coalition of independent Democrats and Republicans is ready to abandon the Undistributed Surplus tax altogether. There always has been a provision in our tax laws against "unreasonable" accumulation of surpluses for purposes of avoiding taxation. Probably a similar provision will be written into the new law at this session, but this is a far different thing from assuming that a particular percentage of businesses wholly unrelated to each other to follow such a rule of uniformity.

Made Mistake
The treasury has not acquitted itself altogether well, therefore, in the matter of tax revision. Its experts know full well the absurdity of some of the provisions of existing law, but since the president has made the mistake in the first instance, politics demands considerable "face-saving."

So the treasury has yielded to expediency and the whip of the White House, and so have certain administration senators. The vote to retain the Undistributed Surplus tax, as incorporated in the bill that passed the house, will be a defeat for the administration in the senate. Far from being an example of good politics, the administration will be putting its own supporters "on the spot" by insisting that they vote for the house bill. This is because, in the coming congressional elections, a vote to retain the Undistributed Surplus tax, even in principle, will be regarded as a vote against reemployment and recovery, while a vote against the tax will be regarded as a vote to put idle workmen back on their jobs. The issue will be one of the most important in the campaign. The country is more conscious of taxation and its injurious effects on business than it ever has been since the federal income tax became a law 25 years ago.

Took Little Interest
The difficulty in the past has been that the public took little interest in complicated tax rates or their effects. Today, the rates are not any better understood, but their effects have been widely advertised because business attributes to faulty tax laws a major cause of the present depression.

The senate finance committee has, in its report to the senate, pointed out the need to stimulate business recovery by better tax laws. Some vital changes have been proposed. Will the administration crack the whip and fight a tax revision that helps business? This question has not been answered finally, but administration tactics thus far have been surprisingly unappreciative of the nation-wide demand for a more intelligent tax system. Some of the radical senators, like Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, are trying to broaden the tax base so that persons of low income will pay higher taxes. What Mr. LaFollette and his followers have overlooked is that the tax base has already been broadened to a dangerous point by the payroll tax levied under "social security" laws and by indirect taxes in recent years, especially by state sales taxes.

The amazing thing is that tax bills still are written and rewritten while few members of congress think of or propose ways to cut the need for taxes—the expenses of government.

March Postal Receipts

Lower Than Year Ago

Postal receipts for the month of March were 14 per cent lower than for March of 1937. Postmaster Stephen Balliet reported today.

The postmaster attributed the decrease to the fact that Easter comes two weeks later this year. Last year much Easter mailing was done in March.

Receipts in March of last year were $19,270.30 and for last month $19,000.49, a difference of $269.81.

Patman Writes Book on Meaning of His Own Law

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Dun's review for the month of March contained a column advertisement of a book by the honorable Wright Patman, member of congress from Texas and author of a law whose ambiguities seem, to spring from the very soil of his homeland. Mr. Patman comes from Texarkana, Texark, which has—or used to have—two city halls, one on each side of the Texas-Arkansas boundary and a federal post office balanced nicely astride it. In the terms of the too-offtold definition of the Washington banquet orators, Mr. Patman's home town is a civic mugwump, with her first syllable on one side of the border and her second on the other, and his favorite law, by his naive admission in a magazine for business men, teachers in the same manner.

"The Robinson-Patman act," the advertisement begins. "What you can and cannot do under this law, by Wright Patman, member of congress."

"This first-hand authority deals with questions arising under the act from the standpoint of those who must do business in accordance with it. Answers nearly 400 questions as to the effect of the law on specific trade practices, covering all sorts of distributing arrangements, setting of prices and discounts, fixing sales territories, location of warehouses, selection of wholesalers versus your own salesmen, etc."

"Any questions go into complex, difficult points, involving nice interpretations and consideration of the extent of the law. On all Mr. Patman gives his opinion on how to operate legally and advantageously under the act's provisions."

"Twenty-six chapters cover the purpose of the act; when price discriminations are lawful, price discrimination 'to meet competition,' who are in competition, cash discounts and terms of sale, advertising, other forms of promotional allowances, exemption as to perishables, obsolescence, selection of customers."

"Much Wordage Required To Explain Such Things."

"Much more wordage is required to describe a book selling at $4.50 which is required to explain a law by which men and companies endeavoring to sell a pair of overalls or a package of grapes are required to do or refrain from doing certain things under various penalties, including imprisonment, possibly, at the discretion of the director of prisons, in Alcatraz. I have seen Alcatraz from a safe distance in the last few weeks, and it does seem a trifle extreme to threaten men with imprisonment there for violation of an act one of these parents, whether sire or dam, admits that it is capable of 'nice interpretations' but would induce his customers to operate 'advantageously' within its provisions as he perceives them."

"No longer ago than last June Mr. Roosevelt passed some rather harsh remarks about citizens who operate with the provisions of the income tax law, but 'advantageously'."

"He took the position that it was immoral and unethical to operate 'advantageously' and here now is Mr. Patman counseling the citizens, at $4.50 per copy, to take advantage of his law according to his interpretation. Yet he offers no guarantee that the advantages which he points out for $4.50 will be upheld by the courts and appears to be working both sides of the street, with no responsibility on either side."

"Suggests Opportunity For Profitable Business."

"Nobody can sue a statesman for framing a law which is so complex."

HOLLYWOOD LIGHT CAMERA ACTION! HAPPENINGS

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—The taboos that hang heavily over movie production grow steadily. In its task of pleasing everybody and offending none, Hollywood is finding it more and more difficult to make pictures the way it would like to make them.

Practically heartbroken in his own picturesque way was Director William Wellman the other day.

"For five years I've wanted to kill off an actor this way," he said, "and I finally got into the script of 'Men with Wings' Fred MacMurray's an aviator, taken prisoner in Spain. He's facing a firing squad, right beside his waiting grave, and he's given a chance to say his last words. He looks up at the sky, says, 'There's one thing I'd like to know—just what is this war all about?'"

But Wellman's pet scene is out of the picture, Spain—one side or the other—might take offense. Or some of the people elsewhere who are "interested" in Spain.

New Prevex Has Plans.

The Motion Picture Relief Fund has a new president—Jean Herschberg—and a new set-up under jurisdiction of Actors, Writers and Directors guilds.

The fund, to help those within the industry down on their luck, has been operating with insufficient money, and Herschberg's first step will be a scheme to more than double the present intake.

Clients of the fund will remain anonymous as before. The names of some of them—once great stars—would be startling if revealed.

Movie sounds the microphone never picks up the exploding of a theory; the dropping of an opinion; the breaking of a heart.

Musical Cycle Waning.

It's happening again: the general soft-peddling of the term "musical" applied to film productions. The studios are swinging quickly away from the vague which dominated their output these past several years. Zanuck's high-powered musicals are going temporarily into the discard; several pretentious musicals announced by Paramount are being quietly overlooked; and the word is going the rounds that the public is "fed up" with the single-swinging.

SAFETY THEME OF GIGANTIC SIGN

Shown above is a night picture of the gigantic new safety sign which the Wisconsin Michigan Power company has erected over its power plant east of Memorial drive bridge. The sign, which carries 800 lights, is on a frame 65 by 40 feet in size, the one which has carried Christmas greetings in the past.

Capital letters are six feet high and lower case four feet. "Police Ask" has red letters, "Be Alert" amber, and "Driving, Walking" red. The white cross between the last two words is the official safety emblem and is placed in a circle of green lights.

The sign is lighted from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock in the evening at present. The illumination period will be changed as days grow longer. (Post-Crescent Photo) expected to know what it means, though his liberty depends upon compliance, and then write a book at $4.50 per copy explaining all, but on the basis of caveat emptor. Naturally I have not read the Robinson-Patman act, but in view of Mr. Patman's venture into the ever more popular Washington field of commercial literature I am curious regarding one specific question. In that section of his law governing the book trade did Mr. Patman make it a criminal offense for anyone having bought a $4.50 book to lend that book to a friend, thus doing the deserving author out of his royalty of 6 7/8 cents?

DINNEEN, MITCHELL AND OLD TELEPHONE BOOKS

Mr. Dinneen, former secretary of the Public Service Commission, has been assessed $18,514 income tax upon a statement of facts with which the public is generally familiar.

The case bears some of the earmarks of the Banker Mitchell case and also of that sale of old telephone books with the President's signature at $250 each.

The charge in each instance is a crude attempt to pervert the law. Almost invariably when these matters get before courts the law is vindicated.

Banker Mitchell was first brought before a jury on the charge of criminally evading the income tax law. Upon evidence as plain as day the jury found him not guilty. Fortunately when the government sues to collect its taxes juries are not a part of the picture. Upon the same evidence the courts, clear to the supreme court of the United States, denounced Mr. Mitchell's method as a mere shabby pretext of avoiding plain provisions of law, and required the payment of some $700,000 in taxes.

The Dinneen case has in some respects a nastier odor. Large sums of money came to this man from utility executives while he was in a position to turn over to them vast and valuable quantities of evidence. When the man who receives money under such circumstances calls it a loan in order to avoid treating it as income, but pays no interest on it, and the man who gives it asks no payment either of principal or interest over a long period of years and leaves no evidence of it in his estate we are provided with circumstantial evidence of an unusually powerful nature. When you repeat this procedure more than once you are multiplying the power of that evidence heavily. It must never be forgotten that within certain carefully and well defined lines circumstantial evidence in cases of this character is much more potent and reliable than all the words that tongues can shape.

The sale of the Democratic campaign books in order to raise a few hundred thousands from corporations prohibited by law from making contributions was just as raw as anything done by Dinneen or Mitchell. It isn't a case of "defeating the spirit of the law." It is a case of smashing the law itself to smithereens. It is a deliberate affront to intelligence, a notion that we live in a mumble-jumble world where only words count and that if a man who wishes an ordinance passed hands a councilman a few thousand dollars and says with a smirk the money is to be used for the relief of the poor that no bribe takes place.

And it is noticeable that although the gentleman who is called Attorney General of the United States gave a perfectly partisan opinion to save his associates from prosecution the practice of selling the old telephone books was stopped in its tracks.

TRAVEL EXCHANGE

Last year there was a wave of student exchanges, by which boys and girls in American high schools swapped schools and families with German children for a few weeks. Some of that activity is said to be continuing this year, but without the schools accepting any responsibility. This is probably a better way, in view of the criticism to which last year's exchanges were subjected by people who regarded the whole business as a shrewd example of "Nazi propaganda."

In some of our American cities now the exchange idea is being applied to England. In one locality 50 boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 19 will go to the British Isles, seeing the country and having some experience of British home life. Meanwhile an equal number of English boys and girls will be entertained here in the same way.

There probably will be less objection to this plan. The exchange is entirely private and unofficial, and it seems more natural nowadays to fraternize with a democratic nation than with any dictatorship country. American youths will be less subject to intentional propaganda in Britain than on the Continent, because it seldom occurs to an Englishman that it is necessary to advertise his country and its institutions.

DIVIDED SAFETY

There are many things which can be done to promote safety, such as safeguarding machinery in factories, using fireproof materials in building, eliminating grade crossings, dividing traffic lanes and separating pedestrian and bicycle paths from automobile highways. These and many more measures are being applied. But in the last analysis human safety depends on human effort and caution.

The president of the National Safety Council illustrates this point with a true story. He visited a manufacturing plant in Minneapolis where there had been no accident in three years. The men were proud of their record and alert to maintain it by exercising carefulness, obeying regulations, and so on.

The visitor asked how many of the men had had accidents elsewhere. It developed that there had been 158 automobile accidents within the year. There had also been 54 accidents in homes of the factory workers.

The men were willing to cooperate for general safety in the factory, but they didn't carry that attitude with them when they left. They took all kinds of chances in traffic and at home, with accidents following as a result of their own carelessness.

ANOTHER POPULAR FRONT GOES SOUR

Premier Blum presented the unusual spectacle before the French parliament of a popular front leader telling the country that France must copy the economic and financial programs of the dictatorships to survive.

"I say it is necessary," continued M. Blum "to have a stable government and a disciplined nation." Continuing he said that the treasury must find about 30 million dollars a week aside from its present income in order to survive.

So this is a result after several years of popular front, an unstable government, an undisciplined people, a broken treasury, yea, and as many broken promises as you can read.

In many respect, considering the difference in temperament, situation, etc., the Blum program has not been unlike the Roosevelt program. It has been extravagance. It has been wastage. It has burned the candle at both ends and in the middle.

It promised France an increase in labor's pay, a shortening of labor's hours, and miracle of miracles, no increase in either taxes or the cost of living, and no reduction in the value of the franc.

And the people who could swallow such a program, who could believe in and trust such leaders, what of them—do they not deserve the confusion and now the chaos that confronts them. Of course the wage increases came. So did the shortened hours. But now what to do with more wealth going out than created? The first and easiest opiate is the cheapening of the money, although in many respects it is the meanest because it is the hardest upon the very deserving class known as savers.

In Europe when money is cheapened the effect is felt much quicker than with us so far removed from other world markets.

And now taxes, of course, must be increased and increased and the people must be gouged to pay alone the heavy increases voted by the Blum government to the equally heavy civil service list.

The situation is so desperate that M. Blum asked the privilege to rule by decree which means that the remedies he must adopt are to be so severe he expects a popular uproar and can only enforce them with the iron arm of a dictator.

Great things, these popular fronts, honorable, true to their word and all that, and the prelude, too, to dictatorship according to their own confession.

"NEW SOURCES OF TAXATION"

Mr. LaGuardia could never have been as successful as he has in public life were it not that he is a highly resourceful man. But his abilities have been put to a severe test lately trying to unearth "new sources of taxation" in the never-ending quest for more public funds to feed the gigantic and never satisfied public maw.

Mr. LaGuardia has resorted to the direct sales tax, adding another cent to a package of cigarettes, and offsetting this tribute upon the lowly by an additional tax upon meals that cost more than a dollar.

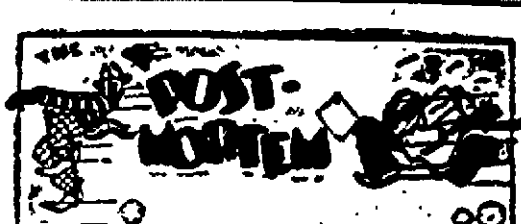

We fear that when a resourceful man like LaGuardia is just about at the end of the rope the country is there too. And when we really get to the stone wall we may embrace better faith and more honesty in our dealing with taxes instead of the prevailing policy which is to fool the many into thinking the few are paying while the pockets of all are well picked through corporate income taxes.

For a long time Mr. LaGuardia played with the proposition of assessing a tax upon both commercial and savings banks accounts, and while he has not entirely abandoned the idea it has been postponed for the time being.

So hard put for funds and means is the great city of New York that its council adopted a resolution to pave the way toward the operation of a municipal lottery, always looking toward a painless means of raising funds instead of the forthright and the genuine and the honest means of letting the people who pay the taxes know what they pay even if it does make necessary drastic economies because the people are not themselves wasteful.

Approximately 94 per cent of the electricity in the United States is generated by privately-owned companies which have an invested capital of $13,000,000,000.

The Peruvian Central Railway, from Callao to Huancayo, is the highest standard gauge railroad in the world and at one point reaches an altitude of 15,655 feet—nearly three miles.

THERE ARE, I understand, a lot of funny and semi-funny stories connected with the election of Tuesday, but I would not be one to repeat them. . . . even if I made an effort to go out and get 'em. . . . there is something about an election and the business of staying up late at night (or until 8 in the morning) — as was the case with the one a year ago last fall) that always leaves me in the mood of a man who wants to forget. . . . I wasn't in on the vote tabulation Tuesday night, but even under such circumstances there is no change in the reaction. . . . I can now worry, shivering intently when I concentrate on it, about what's coming up in November. . . .

That just goes to show you how Stoo and I differ on typography. Besides, Stoo is a wild man at heart, and you never can tell when he is going to let fly with a whole gob of bold-face.

Time was, of course, when I was young and daring and used to let go not only with bold-face type, but with boldface, indented type set in two point boxes. I also used to let fly with some hand set stuff now and again, and made a point of varying the widths of all paragraphs. At Christmas time I would slide in a few pictures.

Maybe, when spring really gets here, I'll let 'er go in a big way for a flock of fancy type. But I've gotta see the doctor first. Maybe my blood pressure won't stand it.

Of course, when the boss decides to put the column on the front page and gives me all day to write it, THEN watch out for bold type and fancy initials and boxed paragraphs and such other devices for driving printers crazy. Boyboy, just watch. (Speaking of hints.)

As I get it, the big problem is reorganizing the reorganizing bill that would reorganize certain governmental functions. And FDR will attempt to reorganize the house of representatives if the house doesn't pass the reorganizing bill.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE CLAVICHORD
(For G. Luloff)

Seven candles burning
Back of her fair head!
Seventy times seven
Hearts were comforted!
Silence fell around her
While our spirits soared
On the angel music
Of the clavichord.

Days serene and splendid,
When our world was new,
Came to bless our vision,
Lured us to pursue
Quiet paths and gentle. . .
Surely the kind Lord
Guided those white fingers
On the clavichord.

We were calmed and strengthened;
Sorrow fell away.
Following the noble
Road to yesterday,
We can meet the future
With our faith restored
By a woman playing
On the clavichord.

APPETITE IS A MYSTERY
Every little while some eager soul inquires whether "medical science" has not found some remedy which will diminish appetite without harming the body otherwise, so that one can push away from the table when the dessert is about to come on, and without feeling too sorry for oneself.

Hush, child. Medical science has not yet discovered what appetite is, much less how to control it.

But medicine is making strides, all right. A pertinent observation we have made in recent years, or rather our patients have made it, I never use the editorial plural, if I am talking about myself, is that after a few weeks on the New Design for Dwindling regimen (that is the title of a booklet telling all about it, and any reader may have a copy if he asks for it by name in writing (no clipping will suffice) and inclose a stamped envelope bearing his address—and no loose stamps will suffice either—one finds that one's appetite or desire for food is satisfied with less food than one formerly ate.

Now that is odd, isn't it? Indeed it is, so odd that some self-styled scientific authorities are too chuckle-headed to understand it.

But Dr. Victor Heiser, who wrote the best seller, "An American Doctor's Odyssey," was getting warm when he said in a magazine article that overindulgence in improper foods may be responsible for over-eating! He explained that excess of improper food causes the intestinal tract to become thickly coated with the mucus or phlegm thrown out in an effort to protect the mucous membrane, and this diminishes the absorbing surface, so that the patient has to eat more in order to absorb the same amount of nourishment. To correct all this, Dr. Heiser suggested, the remedy is right eating.

Well, now, if overeating can cause overeating, is it illogical to say that eating less may cause a lowering of excessive appetite?

The chuckle-headed medical scientist who can't understand such a thing is bemused by the traditional statement or teaching that in beri-beri (polynneuritis) in the orient, a nutritional disease due to extreme deficiency of vitamin B, there is usually little or no appetite. If that is true, how can the feeding of additional vitamin B possibly cause a moderation or diminution of appetite?

I suggest that an adequate or better optimal daily ration of vitamin B (more than just enough to prevent outspoken symptoms of disease), by improving muscle tone in the alimentary tract, improving digestion, enables the patient to absorb more nourishment from less food—and any one who can't understand this is a chuckle-head and no mistake.

Indianan postcards: Write you two weeks ago and to date have not received reply. (A. K.)

Answer—If at first you don't tell me what you want, write, write again. I keep no memoranda of correspondence, once I have read the letters. Every day a handful of undeliverable answers are turned back to me by the postoffice because correspondents have not given a correct address or have vaguely named the home town "City," which is no name to give one's home town, after all.

X-Ray for Oily Skin

My physician gives my face two light X-ray treatments weekly for acne seborrhoea. It seems to be helping, but I read in a book about harmful beauty aid that facial X-

ray is dangerous for removal of superfluous hair. (H. D.)

Answer—In the hands of your physician the treatment is quite safe, and good for seborrhoea (excessive oiliness) with or without acne. It is only when unqualified persons attempt to apply X-ray treatment that it is dangerous.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—It was a coldly damp night in Manhattan, with fitful gusts of rain sweeping through the streets. . . . To escape drowning I ducked into the Chez Firehouse, a mad sort of nightclub where mellow old tear-jerkers of the 1830 Music Hall still bravely, frankly but lesqued, are followed by smart supper shows.

When I got there the show was in progress and a lone young man held the spotlight.

In sharp, crisp interpreting the eternal triangle after the manner of Eugene O'Neill, Noel Coward, and other contemporary authors. . . . Only the Hollywood adjective "terrific" could describe the impression he produced.

"Who is that fellow?" I asked Jane Miller, a pretty Texas girl. "He's John Hoysradt," she told me. "He is with the Mercury Theater Group, and he has important roles in Julius Caesar and Shook-maker's Holiday. He comes over here every midnight."

After this I made a point of dropping in on his other acts, each of which seemed cleverer than the last, and finally I went up to him and said, "Say, John, what about yourself? Why don't you jot down some stuff so I can tell people what you are like?"

He thought that over for a moment and said, "All right, I will. . . . Thanks. . . . And this is what he jotted:

"My name is Dutch. Although it is misspelled more often than not I have never taken a theatrical name, knowing no other actor in the world is likely to have a name like mine."

"Am one of the few actors who once taught school—this particular one being Groton school, cradle of politicians, including FDR. . . . I taught all his sons but James. . . . Franklin, Jr., was very trying as a 2nd former."

"Among recent theatrical engagements have been a coast-to-coast tour with Katharine Cornell in Romeo, The Barretts, and Candida. . . . I wrote a book on this tour which may yet find a market, being mostly about Orson Welles, now of the Mercury Theater."

"For exercise, I like tying up to Hudson river barges and chatting with barge captains. . . . Also swimming and lying in the sun. Am perhaps doing too much at present for my good health, but am so devoted to both the Mercury Theater and to entertaining people with my original sketches that I find it impossible to abandon either."

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Days before the TVA investigation could take shape, nimble-witted Congressional investigators began to digest the possibilities for making it into headlines.

In back of every Congressional investigation that amounts to pin-weight proportions is the crew of investigators. They are keen-er than hawks and like no other type of investigator. They are a breed unto themselves.

They blow in from unexpected quarter, operate for the most part without more than casual publicity, then filter off into some other work.

An investigator with three years' experience is a veteran. Five years' experience makes an old master. And all this happens usually while the man is in his late twenties or in his thirties.

Noted in the recent crop are Ferdinand Pecora, whose flashing investigation of big financial names put across the securities and exchange legislation. Now he is on the New York state supreme court. Stephen Raushenbush headed the Senate munitions committee investigation. Out of it grew the ballyhoo for the neutrality bill, public ownership of munitions factories, and war-prior legislation. Now he is a motive cog in the National Peace conference machinery.

Alger Hiss, one of Harvard's brighter young lawyers, helped Raushenbush, as did Larry Larouche. Hiss now is in the state department reciprocal trade division, Larouche in the Indian service.

The Present Crop

Busiest of present investigators are Herbert A. Blomquist, head of the lobby committee staff, Max Lowenthal, master of the hounds for Senator Wheeler's railroad investigation committee; and Robert Wohlforth, doing it for the Senate civil liberties committee.

They don't come from the placid civil service ranks. Blomquist came from J. Edgar Hoover's G-man force and made good. Others from there have failed.

Armed with Senate subpoenas they move into the office of some organization whose activities are suspect. A flash of subpoenas usually brings out files of letters whose contents, starting from headlines a month or so later, provide endless torment for their writers and amusement or amusement for the reading public.

Often the letter writers refuse to surrender their files and defy congressional threats of punishment. Perhaps equally often they accept the inevitable, and cooperate.

How They Work

As a sample of the way the investigators work, take Blomquist. Before he took over the lobby committee job he was with Senator Black's ocean mail investigation. For a week he and Don Y. Wemple, another investigator, had directed 20 civil service employees in a hunt through a hangar full of files of an aviation corporation in Chicago. The civil service help waded through tons of the files but found nothing substantial enough to suit the two investigators.

Blomquist, disgusted at the slow pace, snapped at them: "I'll bet $10 I can get a story out of the last file, you've been through." There were no takers. He thumbed through a file and soon came up with a letter hinting of a shrewd move to save the corporation $250,000 in taxes. Further search brought corroborating letters and a telegram.

None of that business went to the ocean mail committee. It went to the treasury. In 1936, in a St. Louis federal court, the treasury settled with the company for $250,000 in taxes, interest and penalty.

America Faces New Type Of Strong Man in Mexico

Will Strong Man Cardenas of Mexico be strong enough to buck the international situation created by the expropriation of the Mexican oil industry? Here is an article that helps you judge for yourself, by telling just what sort of a person the strong man is.

BY J. P. MCKNIGHT

Mexico City—(P)—Political know-it-alls wagged heads when Lazaro Cardenas became Mexico's president December 1, 1934. "He won't last three months," some predicted. "He will be just another tool for Calles," said others. They were wrong.

It took the quiet-spoken veteran of revolution, youngest of all Mexico's constitutional presidents, just three weeks to demonstrate that he was running things.

Puts Revolution to Work
Three years more and he really had put the Mexican revolution to work and seen far-reaching social experiments under way. Now, with the fourth year well started, he has run headlong into foreign interests by nationalizing the Mexican oil industry.

A dark, heavy-set, powerful man with crisp black hair and close-cropped black moustache, vigorous and full of life at 42, the soldierly executive, who has Indian as well as Spanish blood in his veins, contrasts with the traditional Mexican politician.

Tactful, he speaks in a monotone, uses few oratorical tricks. In personal habit he is almost Spartan. He seldom drinks, never smokes. Impatient of pomp, he has abolished formal dress for official occasions. He likes the rude life of the country and feels at home among the villagers.

Flees With Prisoner
At 11, Cardenas quit the tiny school in his own village of Jiquilpan, Michoacan, to work in the tax collector's office and help support his widowed mother and six brothers and sisters. Later he worked in a print shop and served as a town jailer.

One night he and his single prisoner slipped away and became soldiers of the revolution against Huerta.

At 19 he was a captain of cavalry, rising steadily then to the top rank of division general. He got his military experience in the field. Four times he was near death. Then came political experience, as governor of Michoacan, secretary of interior, president of the National Revolutionary party and secretary of war. That was the post he left to run for president, as protégé of Calles. Later, Calles criticized him for a "radical marathon." For his pains, Calles was exiled.

Cardenas' program, in its essence, is to help Mexico's 15,000,000 Indians and mestizos (half-breeds), the forgotten men of the country, by "revolutionary" action. His predecessors had such programs too, largely on paper.

35,000,000 Acres
Since Cardenas came to power, he has taken over big estates, divided them up and distributed to communal farm groups 35,000,000 acres of land. He has built more than 5,000 schools. He has laid railroads and highways across jungles and mountains. He has given hundreds of villages and towns water and sanitation.

His term does not end until 1940 but he has hurried to get everything done he can, despite the cost. He does not want to leave too much to a successor. There is a constitutional provision against his succeeding himself, although "strong men" sometimes are urged to disregard it.

Even before Cardenas took over the oil industry, some who approved his general objectives were asking, "Isn't he going too fast?"

Huge government expenditures in financing the business of giving the land back to the Indians, they said, had strained national finances. There were expenditures too for irrigation, importations of machinery and building material and other matters. To get money, Mexico raised tariffs from 100 to 500 per cent in January, to the discomfort of United States business men.

TRAFFIC CAMPAIGN

Denver — A flag of death is being fitted for Denver's police building flag pole. Black with a white cross in the center, it will fly on days when one or more persons are killed in traffic accidents. On days when no deaths occur in the city, as the result of car accidents, a white flag will be flown. It is Judge Philip Gilliam's idea. He believes the flags will remind drivers of the dangers of traffic.

State Agencies Ready To Lend Helping Hand To Child Welfare Work

With this slogan, and with the objective of getting the full use of every community's resources to insure the normal, safe and healthful development of every child, May day on May 1 will be noted in Appleton and every other Wisconsin city and rural community as Child Health day, according to Dr. Amy Louise Hunter, state May day chairman, and head of the bureau of maternal and child health at the state capitol.

In order to facilitate local community child welfare work, and to make available to the Wisconsin public a knowledge of the child health services now supplied by the Wisconsin state government, Dr. Hunter has compiled an outline of the functions of state departments now concerned with the health and welfare of Wisconsin's citizens of the future.

Dr. Hunter pointed out today that at least five state bureaus, scattered through various state departments, are working on the child welfare problem.

Reach Lay Groups

In the state board of health is the bureau of maternal and child health which is responsible for education work through channels which will help in conserving infant and maternal lives and establishing sound health. Through this agency both professional and lay groups are reached.

To the juvenile department of the state board of control has been given the responsibility of carrying out the provisions of the federal social security act which apply to child welfare. Under the direction of the federal children's bureau it is developing and strengthening child welfare services in areas which are predominantly rural. In this it cooperates with all other official and lay groups in the state which are working on child health programs.

The state has been divided into districts, with a supervisor assigned to each. Outagamie, Brown and neighboring counties are included in the district of Mrs. Ada Rogers, who maintains headquarters in Green Bay.

Mrs. Rogers is required to supervise and promote the enforcement of all laws for the protection of mentally deficient, illegitimate, dependent, neglected and delinquent children and to take the initiative in all matters involving the interests of such children for who adequate provision has not already been made. She is charged with looking after the interests of illegitimate children, certification of maternity hospitals, licensing of private child welfare agencies, and kindred duties.

New Service

Recently, through federal funds received from the children's bureau, another service has been inaugurated. In 15 counties county children's workers have been assigned to work under the direction of county children's boards or official advisory committees in directing the development of a child welfare program. The counties are all rural, and consequently those in which child welfare has been lagging behind some of the more populous and prosperous counties.

Various officials in the office of the state superintendent of public instruction are charged with supervision of child health, in promotion of health practices in the schools, in requiring instruction in hygiene, physical education, instruction in the food and health value of dairy products, in accident prevention, in regulations of school building construction, and in the special facilities for the education of handicapped children, mentally retarded and crippled children through special classes in local educational systems.

The crippled children's division of the department supervises the orthopedic school program as it is now established in 11 Wisconsin cities. Through supervision and financial assistance, this division keeps a watchful eye on the schools which are parts of the local educational plant.

Administer Aids

In the state pension department investigators and case workers administer aids to dependent children, in February aggregating 22,832 who received $352,411 or an average grant per family of $35.89.

"The purpose of the aid to dependent children is to provide financial assistance to mothers and other close relatives so that children may live in as nearly a normal home environment as possible," according to Synthia Stokes, supervisor of the program's field service.

Another new agency which is contributing to the state's child welfare program is the rural rehabilitation division of the farm security division, which is intended to rehabilitate low income farm families on the farms on which they are now living.

Field workers for the division emphasize the importance of proper medical and dental care, and according to Edith Bangham, state supervisor of the program, the supervisors "are gradually developing the family's ability to meet this need."

Thus far-flung social service agencies of the state and federal governments are available to local groups who are working on child welfare programs.

All the agencies, says Dr. Hunter in her message to local May day committees, are designed directly to "bettering the health and welfare of the children of Wisconsin, and it is important for everyone to know that such resources are available."

YOUR HEALTH AND VITAMINS 3 Valuable Nutrition Aids in Good-Tasting Yeast Tablets

Recent scientific investigations have established the fact that vitamins are indispensable in maintaining health. Many every-day diets lack vitamins in sufficient amounts. This is particularly true of Vitamins B, G and D. Vitamin B is important to digestion, elimination and to avoid certain nervous disorders. Vitamin G is essential to growth and proper utilization of food. Vitamin D is necessary for tooth and bone structure, to increase intestinal muscle tone and resistance to infection. Ray-D Irradiated Yeast Tablets are a most economical source of these three vitamins. Yeast is the richest food source of Vitamins B and G. The irradiation of the yeast adds Vitamin D equivalent to 2 teaspoons of ordinary cod liver oil in each Ray-D Tablet. Combat this vitamin deficiency that causes low vitality and energy with this inexpensive, good tasting food supplement—Ray-D Irradiated Yeast Tablets. At leading drug stores everywhere. (Adv.)

CONTROL EROSION
Greensboro, N. C.—Here is how C. B. Higgins is saving three acres of his farm from washing away: First, he dug a 700-foot ditch to divert water that had been running in from a nearby road and washing the land into gullies. Then, he planted 2,500 two-year-old kudzu crowns and gave the plants a liberal treatment of fertilizer. Now the kudzu vines, which make good stock feed, are 30 to 35 feet long and there is no more washing on the land.

American People Losing Liberties, Bassett Says

THE American people have slowly been losing their personal liberties during the last 10 years, that the national administrations of the last decade have finally succeeded in stirring up deadly class hatreds and that other nations consequently see us as strife-torn and weakened were among the statements made by Robert C. Bassett, Green Bay attorney, in a lecture on "Dictators and Destruction" at the meeting of the American Association of University Women Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. E. F. Mielke, E River drive.

Painting a depressing picture, Bassett said that war was facing the United States because she was destroying her democracy.

"When a nation loses its prestige, it lays itself open to insult," he declared, "and a nation must avenge its insults, as any man with red blood would."

Ten years ago, Bassett said, the United States was really great. Its people were happy and more prosperous than those of any other country in the world, and America was the most respected nation in the world, based on a form of democratic government given to it 150 years ago by some of the finest political philosophers who ever lived, he declared.

"But something has happened to the political philosophy of the American people," he charged. "During the last 10 years the national government finally has succeeded in stirring up deadly class hatreds. In an attempt to win votes several administrations have played upon the national greed, envy and hope of mankind."

Pointing out that his criticisms extended over the last 10 years and several administrations, Bassett said

Priest Leads Study Club Discussion Of Labor Unions, Strikes

"Labor Unions: The Strike" was the topic for discussion at the meeting of St. Mary Study club Wednesday night at Columbia hall. The Rev. Lambert Scanlan, assistant pastor of the church, led the discussion, basing his statements on the book, "Modern Problems" by the Rev. Rudolph G. Bandas.

He pointed out that moral theologians require the following conditions be verified before a strike is lawful: The advantage sought by the workers must be one to which they have a lawful and equitable claim; a peaceful solution of the difficulty must have been tried and found ineffective; the grievance must outweigh the evil results that are likely to follow from the strike; there must be good grounds for hoping that the strike will be successful; only means in themselves lawful must be employed in the conduct of a strike.

The next meeting will be in two weeks when the topic for study will be "The Right of Parents to Educate Their Children."

Snowstorms Miss Appleton Region; Cold to Continue

Traffic in Southern Wisconsin, Chicago Area, Is Tied Up

Appleton and vicinity so far have escaped the unseasonal snowstorms that have deposited a 6-inch layer in southern Wisconsin, hampering traffic, but the Milwaukee weather bureau reported today that snow may fall in this area tonight and tomorrow morning.

The Milwaukee Motor club today warned motorists against trying to drive to Chicago, as strong winds drifted snow on northern Illinois highways. Snow fell at Beloit today with the temperature above freezing and slush caused "heavy going" on Highway 15, according to the Associated Press.

At noon today the temperature in Appleton was 26 degrees and the Milwaukee bureau predicted that the cold wave would continue. The 24-hour low was recorded at 4:30 this morning, when the mercury showed 25.

Extreme southern Wisconsin had six inches of snow yesterday. The Milwaukee Motor club reported roads were clear, other parts of the state. Milwaukee recorded only a trace of snow during the last 24 hours while other Wisconsin weather bureaus reported no precipitation.

Traffic hampered Highway crews from Platteville and Mineral Point worked all last night trying to keep main roads clear in the southwest part of the state, but a 40-mile northeast wind pushed the snow back into the roads. Bus service in that portion of Wisconsin had not been resumed to date.

Snow fell on 11 states today, the second day of an April storm that brought out winter clothing and put many men to work clearing streets, repairing crippled service lines and fighting to save crops, the Chicago office of the Associated Press reported.

Forecasters J. R. Lloyd of the government weather bureau, Chicago, said snow was falling in Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

The storm centered along a belt stretching from Colorado and Wyoming to New York and New England yesterday and piled up snow to depths of 12 inches.

Unofficial estimates placed the damage to fruit crops and utilities' properties in Ohio at $1,000,000. One of Texas' best fruit crops was damaged heavily in 25-degree temperatures.

tion, and loans for as long as 15 or 20 years may result. Jones said many utilities probably will become interested in this long-term money.

Asserting he always has been liberal in demands for collateral the RFC head indicated he would not relax any security requirements in making the new loans, although the pending bill virtually authorizes unsecured "character" loans.

What kind of security will Jones accept? His reply again was, "Every case is different."

Some business men, for instance, pledge real estate or securities to assure repayment of loans. Jones said he would accept any kind of collateral which would provide "reasonable" assurance of repayment.

Capital Investments
The bill also permits the RFC to make capital investments in private businesses, but Jones asserted this did not mean he would buy any stock. If the borrower wants to use the money for capital purposes, such as building new factories, that's all right, but the government is only going to lend him the money, not invest it in his future.

How much money will Jones lend?

consider the measure under procedure which would put no limitation on the number of amendments that could be offered.

Space was at such a premium in the galleries that the one usually reserved for guests of the president was opened to spectators. Lines formed outside the gallery entrances.

Against Compromise
With an agreement reached that both sides should have 15 minutes to argue O'Connor's motion, the New Yorker urged members not to "compromise with principle."

"Now is the time to strike," he said. "This is the hour. We who believe in the great principle involved, have nothing to lose. If we do, we'll still be fighting."

He said the cry against the bill came from all churches, from colleges, labor, veterans, leaders of business and politics irrespective of class or party.

Rebel yells met Representative Warren (D-N. C.) when he walked down an aisle to answer O'Connor. "By this motion," he said, "the gentleman from New York, Mr. O'Connor is endeavoring to foist on the house of representatives some of the same ruthless methods he has attempted in the past."

He said opponents had wanted full debate and had it—more than 20 hours of it.

"The opposition said it wanted to amend the bill," he continued. "This privilege they also will have. But the gentleman from New York seeks by his motion to deny it to you."

Cites Radio Talks
Warren said the charge had been made on the radio and repeated to day by insinuation that if the bill goes to conference with the senate, there is some "nervous" or sinister scheme in the minds of the conferees.

"(Bills passed in more or less the same form by house and senate, are sent to conference committees composed of members of both bodies for reconciliation of differences between the house and senate measures.)"

Backs O'Connor
Pettengill said the "wisest thing" the house could do would be to approve O'Connor's motion and kill the bill.

"The only thing facing the country today is the necessity to put men back to work," he shouted. "This bill doesn't do that."

Representative Heck (D-Mich.) interrupted the Indiana by shouting: "What bill did you ever vote for that would do that?"

Pettengill did not reply. Representative Taber (R-N. Y.) objected to the bill on parliamentary grounds that it violated house rules by reenacting a provision of an old organization bill which would allow the president to transfer appropriations to a new agency in the event another government agency were discontinued.

Taber said that only the house

A rats' nest in the wall next to the fireplace of the old residence at the corner of S. Oneida and Lawrence streets which is being razed has yielded a collection akin to those found in small boys' pockets.

John Van Dinter, member of the Appleton fire department, who is tearing the house down for Dr. J. B. MacLaren, the owner, found an old-fashioned buttonhook, clock keys, a pair of spectacles of 19th century design, and a few marbles in the nest. The rats built their nest between the fireplace and the wall, apparently with an eye to the warmth such a location would provide in the winter.

Van Dinter unearthed a plate which appears to be off a coffin. The plate reads, "John Perkins, died 1850." Among other things found in the old home were a liberty dime dated 1888, a silver dollar dated 1876, and a Milwaukee newspaper dated April 22, 1869.

Trailerist Able to Move If Locale Is Unsuitable

BY CARL W. MASON
McAllen, Texas — One of the many advantages the trailerist boasts over his settled brother is the ability to take up his house and move to fairer fields when any particular locality becomes dangerous or otherwise undesirable. He can flee from floods and fires, storms and pestilence and a host of ills that often mean destruction and loss to one whose assets are fixed and cannot be moved speedily to a place of safety.

A somewhat comical illustration of the case was furnished recently at the big Elliott Trailer park in Corpus Christi when a sudden storm broke over the region. Following a reunion program a group of us repaired to one of the trailers for a midnight party and spread. Just before 1 a. m., we broke up and started home. A high wind had been blowing and shook our frail shelter but we thought of nothing of it till one man stepped out and was almost literally blown off his feet by the gale.

We all went to our respective trailers but the wind increased in force. I lay in bed and read while feeling the vehicle sway and shiver and occasionally lurch like a boat in a choppy sea. Finally, I went out to inspect a loose leg under one corner of the trailer thinking that it had fallen over. It was firm, however, so I went to sleep and forgot the wind.

The gale grew in power until, as the airport record showed the next day, it attained a velocity of 75 miles an hour. A huge high box of a trailer in an adjacent camp was overturned and another old contraption in our camp was somewhat stripped of its ragged canvas. Many trailerists got up and some even hitched on their cars prepared to flee for safety if the storm grew much worse. Women, were near hysterics and some of the most seasoned travelers were among the panicky crowd. The whole camp was lighted. Just where the prospective fugitives expected to go for safety with a long exposed causeway across the bay on one side and a high unsheltered bridge across the harbor on the other did not appear, but there is seldom any common sense thinking in a panic. One trailerist moved his outfit up behind a camp building. Six others left hurriedly in the early morning.

I am not easily excited over possible dangers while traveling, and in trailerism as in other aspects of life I find that nine-tenths of our troubles never occur. I am a fatalist but am also Yankee enough to take no undue chances. There is undoubtedly some factor in traveling as elsewhere that is commonly called luck. I have been fortunate in recording good luck in my roamings about the world although I have had a goodly share of breakdowns and minor disasters to keep the human balance of things. A ration of hard knocks is handed out to every veteran traveler at more or less regular intervals, and when things go especially smoothly look out for a blowout or some other currency paid under the law of compensations. The most striking example of trailerist's luck I have noted is the record of my recent companions of the tour through Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Becker of Wausau, Wis. Last summer Mrs. Becker became interested in a national soap prize contest and sent in three soap wrappers and a 25-word letter telling why she liked that brand of soap best. After almost forgetting the affair she was bowled over one day to receive a telegram stating she had won the national prize which was duly delivered a little later. It included an 18-foot deluxe trailer with inside mahogany finish and completely furnished with blankets, linen, cooking outfit, fine aluminum piece, silver, and even a set of beetleware dishes. Also a 1937 model automobile and a $200 credit for gas and oil, the whole totaling about $2,000. Some luck, you say. Yes, but the offset of bad luck began even as the trailer was being backed into the stunned recipient's yard. The driver was clumsy backed over a curb, the inside of the trailer being jarred up and some of the new dishes broken.

My friends started for Corpus Christi, Texas, to join me for the trip into Mexico and when about 35 miles from Wausau slipped off the icy road and plunged into the ditch. However, they got to Stevens Point and after a half day's repair work went on again. Later while ascending a hill in Louisiana they were side-swiped by a motorist who tried to pass them and met another car coming head on. My friend's outfit went down a 15-foot embankment and the trailer upset. A crowd gathered and a truck stopped and they were hauled back onto the road covered with sticky red mud and presumably wrecked. However, at the next town, it was found that a broken window and two broken eggs in the ice box were practically the only damages.

One day soon after while hurrying toward Corpus Christi a fellow traveler hailed them with the cheerful shout "Your trailer is afire." Stopping in alarm they saw a cloud of smoke pouring out from one side. It proved to be a tire which had gone flat and was ground and burned almost to an unrecognizable state. And my friend had expended $20 for a pair of "puncture-proof" tubes for those trailer wheels.

He had a new tire and tube to buy. Friends had also counseled "helper" springs for the rear of the car until my friend got the fever and invested another $20 in a pair of springs. Then more trouble began for the springs were a misfit in some way and the car rode like a cross between a mule and an old springless cart. At "Corpus" he had the springs taken off and an extra leaf put into the rear spring. "Set of helper springs for sale. Almost new."

I philosophized that so much good luck at the start might be expected to be followed by a sinister offset of some kind and my friend's experience certainly justified my theory.

Down here in this hot summer weather along the muddy Rio Grande one of the few annoyances we must contend with at present is the insects. Trailer screen doors are hard to keep closed. There is constant running in and out. The tiny gnats which are so annoying though in scorn at even the exceptionally fine mesh of our screens and operate on us without compunction. Mosquitoes in this state do not sing as do our bloody Wisconsin breed, they simply sneak up on you and strike their deadly blows without warning. At times they are numerous. The little fruit flies that are so familiar about bananas and other over ripe fruit are a pest.

They succumb to insect sprays but in the heat one is loath to close the trailer as required to get the results desired. Much of a trailerist's life is spent outside in good weather and the vermin are sometimes a nuisance although not a serious one. If one sits on the ground or ventures carelessly into the underbrush he is apt to get an attack of red bugs, almost invisible parasites that bore into the skin and set up a large blotch larger than a mosquito bite that itches intolerably and often lasts for many days. The only sure remedy I know is a vigorous rub with kerosene—or "coal oil" as the "Suthennuhs" say—followed a half hour later by an equally vigorous soap and hot water ablution. A hot bath soon after the infestation will prevent the bugs getting started but few remember to do that. There are tarantulas hereabouts and enormous fruit beetles with horned heads that can cut into a grapefruit, 10-legged creatures two or three inches long and with armored heads. Another interesting bug of great speed we have been catching around the trailer is livid flesh colored and has two elongated heads with two vicious teeth at the end of each and a single eye on top. Really it is a place to study insect life—or overstimulate a nervous imagination. These latter pests do not get into the trailers as a rule but ants and cockroaches do come in and require insect powder dustings. I have found one scorpion in my auto but that is a rare exception.

1-CASING MAY FAIL!

2-TUBE FAILS, ALSO!

3-STILL YOU STOP SAFELY ON THIS 2-PLY RESERVE TIRE

Here's How Goodyear Lifeguard Tube Works

Goodyear Lifeguard is actually TWO tubes—one inside the other and joined at the base. The inside tube, built of two plies of fabric, holds air and supports the tire when a blow-out releases the air in the outer tube. Air escapes slowly out of this inside tube through a single small vent hole, giving you precious time to stop safely from the highest speed. Both tubes are inflated through the same valve — air passes from inside tube through vent hole into outer tube.

Safety Insurance...Accident Prevention

NO tire that contains air is "blowout-proof" not even when new. Do not be lulled into any feeling of false security. While blowouts are not the most frequent cause of accidents, they do happen — in ALL makes of tires.

All the experience, quickness and strength of a veteran driver cannot insure a safe slowing down with a writhing, flapping, blown-out tire pulling the car sideways. And think how much less is the chance for a safe stop if it's your wife, or daughter, or son at the wheel.

Defend Title

SIX Class A, eleven Class B and fifteen Class C volleyball teams have been entered in the Y.M.C.A.'s first annual open volleyball tournament scheduled here Saturday at Alexander gymnasium of Lawrence college. Entries closed Tuesday evening and the eligibility committee passed on squads at a meeting last night.

The tournament will start at 9 o'clock in the morning. Four courts will be used. Medal and trophies are on display at the Y.

Entries for City Meet at Elks Alleys Close
Saturday

Entries will close Saturday night for the annual city handicap bowling tournament which is being planned at the Elks alleys. Nearly all teams in the Industrial Bowling league, which holds forth on the Arcade alleys, last night indicated they would enter the meet. The possibility of 100 teams competing is being discussed by sponsors.

The entry fee is $1 per man per event. Scores will be 200 and a 75 per cent handicap will be allowed. All leagues in the city are interested in the meet. Entries can be made with Joe Schultz at the Elks alleys.

Elect Twins Captains
Of Badger Fight Team

Madison —(7)— Art and Jim Walsh of Janesville were named co-captains of next year's University of Wisconsin boxing team last night.

The announcement was made by Coach John Walsh at a banquet sponsored by Madison business men to honor the squad which claims the mythical national collegiate championship of 1938. The retiring captain, Vito Schiro, of Madison, will be graduated next February.

The Walsh brothers, twins, have represented Wisconsin in the 115 and 125 pound divisions for two years. Each lost only one of seven matches this season. They are not related to their coach.

TOSSES SHOT, DISCUS FOR VIKES

It has been a little too cold out of doors for shot putters the last few days so Junior Kapp, above, has been tossing the ball around the Lawrence college indoor track room and had just completed a toss when the photographer snapped him. Kapp, an Appleton youth, is expected to be one of Coach Art Denney's certain point winners in this spring's meets. He heaves the discus into first place in almost any college meet and if he gets the shot put down he'll be good for 10 points every time he takes the field. He's a senior. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Boost Number of Teams in League

Badger State Grid Circuit
To Have Nine En-
trants Next Fall

Little Chute — The Badger State semi-pro football league has been enlarged to nine teams as the result of a decision of circuit officials at Two Rivers last night. Appleton, Little Chute, Green Bay, Two Rivers, Manitowish and Sheboygan are already entered in the grid wheel.

Squads interested in securing franchises include New London, Clintonville, Port Washington, Plymouth, Fond du Lac and Sturgeon Bay. Plymouth boasts a football association under the supervision of a recreational director while Sturgeon Bay Marines have Pat Johns at the helm and are eager to join the loop. Port Washington is grooming a squad of youngsters while the New London aggregation is looking for a sponsor. Clintonville is expected to have FWB backing with Bob Olen in the pilot's seat. Fond du Lac will play under the American Legion banner. Kaukauna was not represented at the session last evening and Little Chute was granted permission to draw from players in that city. Teams will be limited to 30 players and rosters must be submitted before the third league game.

Game officials and a tentative schedule will be discussed at the next meeting to be held at the Manitowish Savings bank Wednesday, May 4.

The other three amendments which will be considered at the meeting are: Changing the annual spring meeting from May to April; paying of $5 a year dues before the first football game in the fall; and where schools in either the Eastern or Western division have adequately lighted football fields, games may be shifted from Saturday afternoon to Friday night providing the home school desires to play on Friday night.

Northeastern Schools Will Vote
On Continuing in Cage Tourneys

NEENAH—"That schools in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference in the future will not enter the W.I.A.A. basketball tournament," will be one of four amendments voted on at the conference's annual spring meeting Wednesday night, April 20, at Alaska, according to John H. Holzman, Neenah High school principal and conference secretary.

Officers will be elected at the meeting and officials for next year's basketball season will be selected. Several high school teachers will attend the meeting.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

THIS from Stoney McGlynn, one-time Lawrence griddler, and now a Milwaukee sports writer anent the state college sports situation:

"Is the Wisconsin Big Four conference about to enjoy a revival? Time was when the Big Four, Ripon, Beloit, Carroll and Lawrence, was one of the ranking leagues of the middle west. Its teams, both on the gridiron and the basketball court, held their own with teams from schools of much larger classification. It was always a good bet that the champion of the league could cope with Marquette and some of the lower bracket Big Ten schools.

"Records show that Ripon eleven which did not win titles in the Big Four twice held two of Marquette's finest teams to scoreless ties; that Beloit knocked off Northwestern and held one of Knute Rockne's ranking Notre Dame machines to a 17 to 3 victory; and that Carroll and Lawrence teams, too, upheld Big Four prestige in no uncertain fashion.

"The recent appointment of Bernie Heselton as Lawrence football coach seems to have inspired the Vikings to newer and greater things athletically. And with increased interest at the Appleton school there is a demand that the Big Four be revived.

"There is some talk that St. Norbert college of DePere be included in the new setup. The Green Knights have come a long way in sports under the able tutelage of Mickey McCormick. A high class athletic conference would not de-

Suffers Broken Thumb;
Will be Replaced
By Hans Ahl

THE CARD
George Steffen, Lena, Green Bay Golden Gloves champion, versus Hans Ahl, Oshkosh, five rounds at 130 pounds.

Lauren Chesley, Lena, Green Bay Golden Gloves champion, versus Connie Schuemperli, Milwaukee, diamond belt winner, five rounds at 126 pounds.

Ed Nod, Marinette, Green Bay Golden Gloves champion, versus Peter D'Amico, Milwaukee, silver gloves winner, five rounds at 122 pounds.

Willard Hayes, Oconto, Green Bay silver gloves winner, versus Ken Allmers, Oshkosh, three rounds at 130 pounds.

Hoxey Lamers, Little Chute, versus Clifford Lutz, Appleton, three rounds at 138 pounds.

Sid Blinder, Appleton, Green Bay novice champion, versus Leon Toom- en, Appleton, Green Bay novice champion in 1937, three rounds at 118 pounds.

Carleton Fuerst, Appleton, versus Kenny Thayer, Clintonville, golden gloves finalist, three rounds at 147 pounds.

A broken thumb, suffered during a sparring session with the heavy bag, has taken Clarence Grafenstein, Sheboygan, off the amateur fight program scheduled tonight at Armory G. It has been announced by Matchmaker Leslie Holzer.

Grafenstein, one of the hardest punchers seen here in several years, was to have met George Steffen, Lena. He has been replaced with Hans Ahl, Oshkosh, who has appeared here many times and who defeated Steffen several months ago when he broke the Lena boxer's nose. Grafenstein has promised to be present and will be introduced from the ring.

No other changes are expected on the card and one of the largest crowds of the season is anticipated. The show will present three wind-ups in which ranking performers are to battle. Three other bouts will have considerable local interest because of Appleton, Little Chute and Clintonville talent. Another bout will appeal to the folks who like to see the big fellows test leather for it will feature heavyweights.

The card is the last of the season and despite the type of performers there will be no change in prices. The curtain raiser will go on at 8:30.

St. Mary Boxers To Meet St. John

Dutchmen Will Entertain
Menasha Squad at Little Chute Friday Night

Little Chute — St. Mary boxers of Menasha will tangle with the St. John squad in a return match at St. John High school gymnasium at 8:15 Friday night. In the last engagement, St. John won by a 63 to 14 score but St. Mary is reported to be improving rapidly and is expected to give the Dutchmen a run for their money.

Included in the St. Mary lineup will be Ed Cheslock, Tony Schuler, Harold Garrison, Vee Burghart, Floyd Ebben, Al LeMay, Ken Schmalz, Ray Graf, Bob Reischl, Coopman, Vern Van Dyke and Ed Motil.

The St. John aggregation will be tract one whit from the enviable academic ratings the schools have built up in the past—and no doubt, would help in bringing the scholastic ratings to the attention of the public.

"It is time the Big Four, possibly the Big Five, returns to the Wisconsin sports setup in all its old time glories."

In case you haven't noticed—It's Justice Ray Hamann at Kimberly now. . . . The villagers started a write in campaign election day for Hamann for justice of the peace and when the vote was counted the village high school basketball coach and Oshkosh All-Star cager had a political office. . . . We'll have to remember that if we get picked up for speeding in the village.

Interested in renting a golf course? The Kaukauna course is for rent, or was a few days ago. The sport hasn't gone over so well in the Electric City and play dropped off year after year.

When Bill Pickett moves up to the senior high school next year as a phy ed instructor, we hope they get another top instructor out at Roosevelt. Bill has taught a lot of good fundamental basketball to a number of lads who later formed the nucleus of the high school team.

Elks club bowlers will have their annual feed and awarding of prizes Friday evening at the club rooms. . . . It'll be another opportunity for the Minnecota team to rub it into the Northwestern five, second place winners in the Big Ten, for that last night's showing. . . . The Wildcats flopped a mere 769 game score on one occasion, and "Juicy" Gritzmacher got a "big" 135 game.

Reports from around Marion are that last Saturday, after the Class C cage champions returned home, all traffic through the town was at a standstill and there was no use trying to drive through the village. . . . The folks at Marion, Shawano and Wausau are considering a big joint banquet for their cage squads at some central point.

If you are interested in volleyball you'll want to see the state open volleyball meet which the Y. M. C. A. is sponsoring at Alexander gymnasium of Lawrence college Saturday. There will be 32 teams in Classes A, B and C. Last year's three championship teams will perform. The Appleton Y. M. C. A. B team is the defending titlist in that division. Last year the meet was called a state Y meet but because of criticism from certain sources the tournament this year is an open affair and any group with a volleyball team has been eligible to enter.

Now that the boys are saying "We told you so" about Marion winning the state Class C and Shawano the state Class B basketball tournaments, may we modestly admit that last November we told Harry Stuhl-dreher at Kimberly there wasn't much need for a state tournament, that Marion and Shawano would be the titlists in their respective classes.

"I'm sorry, Father, but that's the only way we could win this game." This apology to the Rev. D. B. Coyne, coach of the Columbia college (Ia) basketball team was presented by George Hesik, Marquette university guard, on the occasion of the Hilltoppers' game in Dubuque several weeks ago and has only recently become generally known. Hesik saved the game for Marquette by deliberately fouling a Columbia player who retaliated and brought a double foul. The Columbia boy missed his free throw, but Hesik made good on his chance and sent the game into a second overtime during which the Hilltoppers won out, 32-30.

selected from the following: Jim Hermen, Joe Winius, Ken Hurst, Roger Koehn, Les Helf, Gordie Baumgard, Jerome Helf, Becker Lenz, Cletus Hurst, Al Huisman, Jim Koehn, Jim Lenz, Van Lang-felt and Whitey Jansen.

The Sacred Heart team sixth grade softball team defeated the St. Joseph seventh grade team by a score of 47 to 2 in a game Tuesday afternoon at Jones park. The Sacred Heart team is seeking other games.

ROLL TOP SCORES

When the Elks bowling leagues gather tomorrow night at the club rooms for their annual bowling banquet two keglers who will receive special awards are shown above. They are Dr. A. J. Gloss, top, who rolled a 746 series and Art Jones, who rolled a 291 game. Neither of the scores was scratch. The men rolled in the Eastern league, Jones being a member of the championship Notre Dame squad.

Ruppenthal to Meet Dorsetti

Duke Will Attempt to Tame Italian Rebel
Next Wednesday

Menasha—Duke Ruppenthal, Tigerton tiger, will be the next in the procession of matmen who will attempt to curb Joe Dorsetti, the Italian rebel, at S. A. Cook armory. The next show will be staged next Wednesday by William Erickson, sports promoter. Ruppenthal is somewhat of a mat man himself and may be able to quell the Italian to the satisfaction of the fans.

One clean bout it assumed on the card, Stan Pesek, Omaha, the popular Polish grappler who won the state middleweight wrestling championship, will tangle with Pete Holtz, Chicago, the Illinois state middleweight champion. Holtz has performed regularly in Milwaukee and has a large following there. Fans at the last show showed their appreciation of straight wrestling with genuine applause. Pesek and Holtz will be able to give them more of the same type of performance.

The Texas wildcat, Speed Franks, will be back in the 30 minute open er, this time to tangle with Tubby Richardi, Watertown. Richardi has not performed in the Twin Cities since the first bout of the season. Speedy's reputation as a villain was somewhat tarnished in the bout last week in which the Texan became meek and mild before the tactics of Joe Dorsetti. That exhibition was far from wrestling however. Something more mild, probably will be in store for fans next Wednesday but the Texan does like to hand out the rough stuff.

The windup and semiwindup bouts will go for two out of three falls with an hour time limit while the opener will be a one-fall contest with a 30 minute time limit.

SACRED HEART TEAM WINS

The Sacred Heart sixth grade softball team defeated the St. Joseph seventh grade team by a score of 47 to 2 in a game Tuesday afternoon at Jones park. The Sacred Heart team is seeking other games.

Hi Tracksters Show Friday

Stand Little Chance at Wisconsin Rapids Tourney

S LATED to be just an after school participating largely for the experience and the opportunity for competition, Appleton High school track and field squad will go to Wisconsin Rapids Friday afternoon for the annual indoor track and field meet sponsored by the Rapids high school. Seven Class A schools will compete with Green Bay East hoped to cop first place as it did a year ago.

The Appleton squad's first contingent will leave about 1 o'clock with the second group leaving later. The first group will be composed of boys who must compete in heats and trials during the afternoon. The finals in all events will begin about 7:30 in the evening.

Won Two Years Ago

Two years ago Appleton surprised and won the championship and last year was noted out of second place by a point. This year's squad isn't expected to do so well because the boys aren't as far along with their work and because they haven't the veterans who performed in past years. Some of the boys have worked out a couple times in the Lawrence indoor track room but have been clocked in even fair times.

In going over the events, Coach Joseph Shields of the Terrors summed up the entrants and possibilities something like this:

1-mile run—Clem Werner, who showed occasionally last year and Elmer Ladtker are the entrants. Their chances are a question. Key Rogers, the best Terror miller who did not show because he is taking a Harvard scholarship examination this weekend.

880-yard run—Ralph Colvin, a senior with a lot of experience last season, and Edward Freude, who also ran in the event last year, should do fairly well.

440-yard run—Fred Oliver is the only Terror entered and should finish in the points.

1-mile relay—Gurnee Cape, George Swamp, Glenn Bowers and Merrill Filz form the Terror squad which indicates Shields is pointing for a victory here. Three of the boys are veteran relay men.

High hurdles—Glenn Bowers and Merrill Filz will carry the load in this event. Movers is a veteran in the event. A good start will mean much in this race.

40-yard dash—Karl Bohnsack and Filz have been entered with "Bohny" slated to finish right up in front. He is new in the event but has been showing a lot of stuff.

Shotput—Don Heinrich and Warren Buesing have been tossing the ball 39 and 40 feet in workouts and should place easily. Heinrich is looked upon to be a worthy successor to Vince Jones before the season gets along far.

Broad jump—Karl Bohnsack, holder of the state Class A title as result of a big leap at Madison last spring, is looked upon to win a first place here. He'll have competition, however, from Rickaby, Green Bay East, Filz and Cape are the other entrants.

High jump—Glenn Bowers and Fred Oliver, two pretty fair jumpers, will show for the Terrors. Bowers probably will do best.

Pole vault—Bohnsack should place one or two here with Harold Acker, who does about 10 feet, getting a few points. "Bohny" again will clash with Rickaby in this event. Rickaby is East's greatest threat and will cause a lot of trouble. The Red Devils are well along and have plenty of talent as their own ever at Madison East High school last week proved.

The Terror track schedule for the remainder of the season:

April 23—Dual meet at Manitowish.

April 26—Dual meet with Green Bay East here.

April 30—Dual meet with Shawano here.

May 7—Dual meet at Green Bay West.

May 10—Appleton, Neenah and Oshkosh at Neenah.

May 14—Open.

May 21—Conference relays at Fond du Lac.

May 28—State meet at Madison.

June 4—Conference meet at Appleton.

May Better Three Marks at Madison

Badger Coach Expects Team to Establish New Indoor Marks

Madison —(7)—Coach Tom Jones predicted today three new field house records — in the 1500 and 3,000 meter runs and the pole vault — would be set by his University of Wisconsin trackmen in the Wisconsin Amateur Athletic union's third annual meet here Saturday night.

Jones expects Charles Fenske to clip at least 10 seconds off his 4:04 record in the 1,500 meter event, and believes Walter Mehl will lower the 9:02 time set by Lloyd Cooke in the longer distance. He is confident that Milt Padway can break the 13 feet, 3 1/2 inch pole vault record held by Al Haller.

Approximately 120 athletes will compete in the 12 events. Seven runs, the pole vault, shot put, relay and running high and broad jumps are on the program to begin at 7:30 p. m.

Coach Con Jennings is expected to bring a large delegation from Marquette university. Other schools to be represented include Milwaukee State Teachers, Lawrence, Carroll, Beloit and Ripon colleges. Unattached individuals also have filed entries.

Concede Two Titles In National Pin Meet
Chicago —(7)—Two of the four American Bowling congress championships appear to be wrapped up ready for delivery.

Although another thousand teams have yet to take their turns on the 40 A. B. C. lanes, past performance and the law of averages fall to concede any of them much chance of surpassing 2,234, the new all-time five man team record.

The 5,000 keggers still to bowl were not given much chance to catch Knute Anderson in the singles, either. His 746 loomed almost as large on the board as the Birk brothers' team mark.

The hottest competition during the final 13 days should result in the doubles and all-events divisions. Neither the team of Kriesse and Vanini in the two-man event, nor Don Beatty in the latter division, sits securely at the top.

Chicago Boxer Wins Approval Of Boston Fans

Eight Amateurs Win National Laurels After 3 Nights of Fighting

B OSTON —(7)—National championship laurels today rested proudly on the battle-scarred brows of eight amateur boxers, victors in their classes after three nights of vicious battling in the Boston Garden ring.

Intersectional honors evenly divided between east and west, the titlists departed for all sections of the United States wearing championship belts denoting hard-won victories from flyweight to heavyweight classes.

Jimmy O'Malley, 15-year-old Chicago welterweight who wants "to be heavyweight champion of the world some day" took with him the unanimous favor of a crowd of 8,000 that watched him pounce out a knockout in the 147-pound finals, best bout of the evening. Eventual winner of a "Good Will" trophy donated by Sir Charles Higham of England to foster international boxing rivalry, O'Malley flashed boxing science and a paralyzing right smash to cut down John Santiago, dusky Honolulu welterweight, in the second round of their title bout.

Cub Reserves Win Over White Sox In Ninth Inning

New York Yankees Defeat Dallas of the Texas League, 2 to 0.

EL PASO, Tex.—(AP)—Outhit, but taking advantage of five errors by the Chicago White Sox, the second and third string Cubs came from behind yesterday to win the final road game of their intercity training series, 10-9.

The Cubs scored their winning run with two out in the ninth when Boze Berger unboobed a wild throw for his third out of the game. The Sox got off to an early lead with four unearned runs in the second inning when Tony York fumbled two grounders.

The victory gave the Cubs an 8-5 edge over the Sox for their road series. The teams will meet three times in Chicago.

A chill wind and rain caused Manager Charley Grimm to send his first stringers back to the hotel. Chicago (N.L.) 110 001 421—10 11 4 Chicago (A.L.) 041 012 100—9 15 5 Batteries—Shoun, Kimball (4), Epperly (6) and Garbark; Lyons, Uhle (4), Dobernick (6) and Rensa.

YANKS WIN ONE!

Dallas, Tex.—(AP)—Behind the hurrying of Rookie Joe Beggs and veteran Bump Hadley, the New York Yankees finally won one. The champions defeated Dallas of the Texas league yesterday, 2 to 0.

Beggs and Hadley allowed Dallas five hits, but the Yanks could do little better. They got seven, three of them coming in the fourth when Lou Gehrig's single, Bill Dickey's double and Tommy Henrich's single produced the first Yankee run.

The Yankees picked up their second run in the fourth, but outside of those two innings they could do little to assist Al Baker, who pitched the full game for Dallas. New York (A.) 000 101 000—2 7 2 Dallas (T.L.) 000 000 000—0 5 0 Batteries—Beggs, Hadley (8) and Dickey; Baker and Fenner.

INDIANS FORFEIT

Longview, Tex.—(AP)—The natives of Longview got a look at big league baseball yesterday and it will be remembered. The New York Giants beat the Cleveland Indians 9 to 0 by forfeit when, in the middle of a ninth-inning commotion over a decision, umpire Claude Tobin gave the Indians a 4-4 ball game to the Giants.

There were 5,000 fans on hand. When Oscar Vitt, the Tribe's manager, charged out of the dugout to ask Tobin why he had ruled Joe Moore's long fly to Julius Solters in the crowd in left a double when Solters had caught the ball, the crowd rushed out to get an earful. Tobin explained the team had agreed on a ground rule that made any ball hit into the crowd a double. Vitt, who had seen Solters pursue the ball into the citizenry and catch it near the foul line, protested violently. The crowd took sides. In the midst of the confusion Tobin conferred with Lou Kolls, the base umpire.

A little while later the Indians lost the argument and the ball game when Tobin forfeited it to the Giants. Cleveland (A.) 010 001 200—0 8 1 New York (N.) 120 100 000—9 8 0 Batteries—Feller (7) and Helf, Hemley (6); Schumacher, Coffman (6) and Danning.

(Game forfeited, 9 to 9, with one out, last half of ninth. Cleveland refusing to play after argument.)

TIGERS TRIUMPH

Clearwater, Fla.—(AP)—Led by Rudy York, who pounded two homers and a triple, the Detroit Tigers jumped the Brooklyn Dodgers for 11 hits and a 10-4 triumph yesterday. It was the Flatbush clan's seventh straight loss.

York's triple was the big blow of the first inning fireworks which netted the Bengals four runs on three hits. He and Charlie Gehringer clouted homers in the seventh in which the winners again got four runs. York's first four-base blow came in the sixth.

Max Butcher and Luke Hamlin, the Dodgers' starters, were ineffective against the American leaguers, while the Dodgers could get only nine hits off Jake Wade. After a shaky start Wade blanked the national leaguers from the third inning on, with the exception of the sixth.

Don Verbeten and Ken Weyenberg were declared on technical knockouts. Peter Ruys won over Francis Vander Velden in two rounds. The bout was fast, especially the first round, with Smits carrying an edge. Francis Verbeten and Lawrence Mauthe also staged a speedy battle with both fighters showing pep. Verbeten was awarded the decision.

Terror Boxers Settle Titles In Final Bouts

LaVerne Bergner Repeats As Companion in 155-65 Pound Class

BY LARRY SHEBILSKIE

TALSMAN EDITOR

A CROWD of about 300 persons, the largest of the year, watched the championship boxing matches at Appleton High school yesterday. It was the final card of the season and by far the most exciting as every bout offered interesting moments.

Before the fights Coach Joseph Shields awarded medals to all the champion wrestlers, namely, Chuck Sample, heavyweight; Russell Becker, 165-175 pound class; Eddie Arndt, 145-155 pound class; Charles Pruet, 135-145 pound class; Willard Buss, 125-135 pound class; and Milton Bergner, 115-125 pound class. Immediately after the boxing matches medals were awarded to the winners.

The first fight on the card was a grudge battle between Earl Fieblekorn and John De Noble. The boys had been fighting in the halls with out gloves and Mr. Witte, assistant principal, asked them if they wouldn't fight it out in the ring. Although De Noble was outweighed by about 10 pounds, he managed to put up a nice fight. Fieblekorn got the better of the affair as he made use of his reach.

In the 100-105 pound class, Marvin Filz originally was scheduled to fight Durwood Mattson, but because Mattson weighed too much at 2 o'clock, he forfeited the title to Filz. Two weeks ago Mattson weighed in at 105 and since that time gained 10 pounds.

Jerome Eastman, a sophomore, fought the junior champ, Milton Bergner in the 115 to 125 pound class. The first two rounds were fairly even but in the final round Eastman got in more blows and was awarded the decision. He put up a beautiful defensive exhibition. The next fight on the program was in the 125-135 pound class and showed Bill Nuffer, a junior, matched against Willard Buss, a senior. In the first round Buss got the better of it by some hard blows to the face but the second round saw Nuffer come back. However, Buss' blows were more telling and he was announced the winner.

In the 135-145 pound class, Douglas Smith fought Howard Kobs. During the first two rounds the boys were feeling out each other, but in the final round Kobs scored with some hard lefts and rights to win.

Mattson, the boy that outgrew the 105 pound class, was then paired with George Gevelinger, senior champ, in the 115-125 pound class. Gevelinger easily won the bout on some fast blows. He also showed a good uppercut.

LaVerne Bergner, a senior, met Lee Saiberlich, sophomore, to decide the 155-165 pound class titles. After socking with lefts and rights to the stomach and face, Bergner out Jooze with a terrific right that caught Saiberlich flush on the jaw and he went down for the count. The fight lasted approximately 40 seconds and was the first real K.O. of the year.

The semi-windup showed Robert Fisher versus Russell Becker in the 165-175 pound class. The fight started out terrifically fast as both boys started socking for all there was in it. Becker seemed to get the better of the round, as he got his opponent in a corner and slugged his body. The boys went to their corners very tired. As they came out for the second round they could hardly keep their hands up but Fisher managed to go in, some straight lefts to the jaw. Fisher won the decision because he took the last two rounds. It was the hardest and most interesting fight of the season.

Tom Reider, a lad who had won all his matches this year on technical knockouts, was matched against Lawrence Hebelier.

In the first round, Reider hooked his opponent with a stiff left to the jaw and set him against the ropes. In the middle of the next round Tommy began using his right to advantage and knocked Hebelier down for a 9 count. Hebelier showed gameness as he got up and came back for more. The final round saw Hebelier rally with some fast lefts but he could not overcome the knockdown. Reider won the match although it was his hardest and longest fight of the year.

The officials were, referee, Shields; judges, Pierre and Gyntimer, Pruet; and seconds, Ben Rohan, Jr., and Armin Scheurle.

Lambeau Signs Georgia Guard for 1938 Season

Green Bay — (AP)—Coach E. L. (Curly) Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers announced yesterday the signing of Pete Tinsley, University of Georgia guard, for the Packers' 1938 squad. Tinsley is the eleventh who has signed for the coming gridiron season with the national professional football club.

from 2 feet to 4 feet from the face of the backboards.

No extra time outs were provided for high school games, but the committee ruled referees must call an official time out in the second and fourth quarters if no time has been called by either team during the first four minutes in those periods.

In addition, scholastic deadlocks will be decided in a "sudden death" overtime session. The first team to score two points on goal or free throws will win. If the three-minute period ends with but one point scored, the team scoring will be declared winner.

Congregational Church Organized Under Old Union With Presbyterians; First Service in Law Office

Editor's note: This is the eighth of a series of stories tracing the history of Appleton churches from the time of their organization to the present.

BY VIOLA HELLMANN
Organized under the old Wisconsin Union of Congregational and Presbyterian churches, the beginnings of the Congregational and Presbyterian churches in Appleton coincide. Both had as their nucleus a service held on Sept. 1, 1850, in the law office of Frederick Packard. Four of the seven persons present were Presbyterian, one was Congregational, one Methodist and the other belonged to the Profession of Faith.

The church which evolved from this gathering was Presbyterian in fact but Congregational in name. A year later, because additions to its membership had changed the sentiment, the group voted to change to the Congregational mode of government, and it was not until 1870 that the first Presbyterian church was organized. During their early history the two churches were frequently closely allied, often worshipping in the same church and supporting the same pastor.

Erection of the first Congregational house of worship, the "Old Brown Church," was begun in February, 1852, and completed in the fall of 1853. At a cost of less than $2,000. Dedicated in January, 1854, it stood on the site where the city hall stands. This building was used by the congregation until the present church, at the corner of W. Lawrence and S. Oneida streets, was ready for occupancy in 1859.

Erect Chapels
Simultaneously with the building of the new church the congregation made an effort to accommodate the outlying districts by erecting chapels in the Fifth and Fourth wards, the first at the corner of Richmond and Gilmore streets and the second at the corner of Jefferson and Fremont streets. Service at these have since been discontinued.

Among the active members of the first church were James and Catherine T. Gilmore, Frederick Packard, John McPherson, Eliza P. K. Smith, Julia C. S. Murray, Alexander Edgar, E. A. V. McCracken, Anson and Harriet S. Bellard, Ann Stacy Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Jones, A. J. Sherwin, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Wait Cross, George and Caroline Lanphear, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Tibbitts, Jacob Tibbitts, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. D. The first pastor was the Rev. Charles W. Munroe, who began his pastorate in November, 1850, and ended his work here in September, 1854. He was the father of Kirk Munroe, the author. During the pastorate of the Rev. Homer H. Benson, which lasted from 1854 to 1858, 57 new members were taken in, and under the leadership of the Rev. Franklin B. Doe, who served 10 years, from 1858 to 1868, 265 members were added.

Mission Board Formed
The Rev. Henry C. Dickson, pastor from 1860 to 1872, was a promoter of missionary enterprises, and during the last year of his service a branch of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Interior was organized.

Following Mr. Dickson's resignation there was a vacancy of 14 months, ended by the arrival of the Rev. Edward Ebbes. A year later he was succeeded by the Rev. Thomas G. Grassie, who was pastor till 1875. Then came the Rev. Caleb E. Fisher of Lawrence, Mass., who served till his death in 1876.

During the 5-year pastorate of the Rev. Sullivan F. Gale, who was here from 1876 to 1881, 100 members were taken in. The Rev. John D. Willard, who was here from 1881 to 1885, organized a branch of the Young People's society of Christian Endeavor, one of the earliest in the country.

It was during the pastorate of the Rev. John Faville, who came in January, 1886, and left in December, 1890, that the new church was built. During his 13 years' service 593 members were admitted to the church.

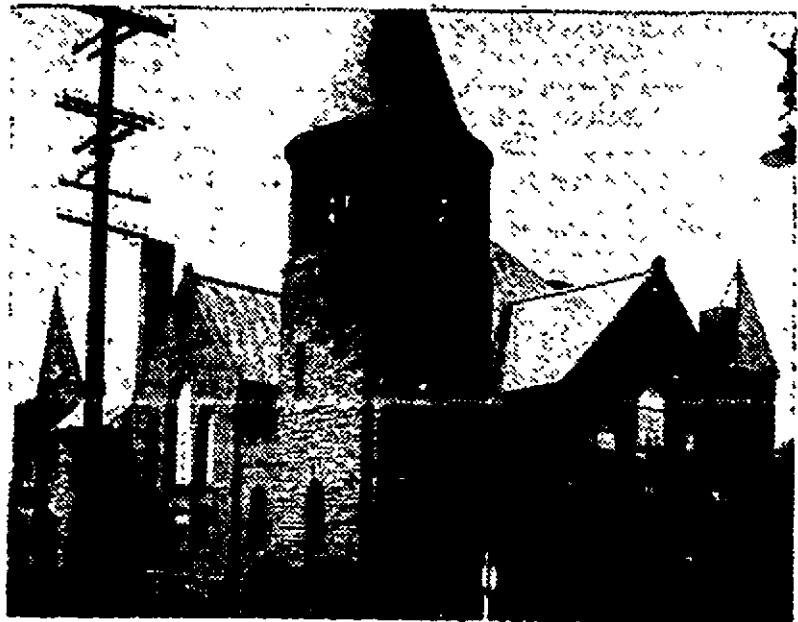

Membership Doubles
The membership more than doubled and the activities of the church broadened considerably under the Rev. Frederick T. Rouse, pastor from 1890 to 1907. Upon his resignation the congregation again called Dr. Faville, then head of the First Congregational church at Peoria, Ill. He responded and served until 1917, when he was succeeded by Dr. H. E. Peabody.

Dr. Peabody's pastorate lasted for 12 years, until he was succeeded on Sept. 8, 1935, by the present pastor, the Rev. John B. Hanna.

During its history of almost 88 years, the First Congregational church has grown in membership from 7 to 1,167. Its Sunday school has grown so large that the church can no longer hold it, and the junior high department, consisting of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, must meet at the Y. M. C. A. each Sunday morning.

New Organ in 1923
The melodeon originally used to provide music for the services was replaced successively by a reed organ, two pipe organs, and in 1923 by the present $20,000 organ. The pulpits and communion table in the church are made from a large oak tree which stood for years on the site of the present church.

Trustees of the church today are Ralph Watts, W. E. Buchanan, Mrs. Elmer Jennings, Clyde Chapelle, A. H. Wickesberg, F. J. Harwood, T. B. Wadsworth, Henry Behnke and Kenneth Corbett. Mrs. Floyd Hardacker is church treasurer; Miss Ruth Dawes, church clerk; Miss Hazel Conn, church secretary; the

The "Old Brown Church," shown at the lower left, was the first house of worship for Appleton's Congregationalists. Dedicated in January, 1854, it stood on the site where the city hall now stands. It was used until the present church, shown above, was ready for occupancy in 1859. The Rev. Charles W. Munroe, lower right, was the first pastor, serving from 1850 to 1854, and the Rev. John B. Hanna, upper right, is the present pastor. He came here in September, 1935.

REA Brings Electricity To 15,000 State Families

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Cooperative rural electrification projects completed during the last three years or now in construction will bring electricity to more than 15,000 families over 5,000 miles of new lines, the Wisconsin Rural Electric Cooperative association reported here today.

In a handsome yearbook bulletin mailed to its 20 member cooperatives, the association details the REA activities in Wisconsin to date in order "to provide a record for posterity."

The association, organized in 1936 to provide engineering and coordination services for farmer electric cooperatives, has its headquarters in Madison and works with a staff of more than 100. According to its figures, total mileage of Wisconsin's rural electric cooperatives is 5,111, while the allotments for projects in construction total $5,764,000.

The association's yearbook contains congratulatory messages from Senator F. Ryan Duffy and Orland S. Loomis, now attorney general and formerly REA coordinator for Wisconsin.

"Wisconsin's position in the REA program is outstanding and you may well be proud of its liberal and cooperative record," Wisconsin's junior senator commented.

Loomis wrote that "the farmers of this state are experiencing the practical truth of cooperation in self benefits and community solidarity."

The miles of cooperatively owned lines, Loomis said, "mean a hired man to the farmer and a hired girl to the farmer's wife, bringing comforts and a better and a fuller life to approximately 12,000 families and approximately 65,000 people."

Council Studies Plan to Develop Park as NYA Work

Improvement of Land Owned by Pioneer Society Is Suggested

Kaukauna—A proposal to make the creation of a park on land owned by the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical society a NYA project for Kaukauna was brought before the common council last night.

Mayor Lewis F. Nelson introduced the matter by reading a letter from the NYA district supervisor, who stated that several things were necessary if an NYA program was to be carried out here. A supervisor's office must be provided for, a project furnishing work for an extended length of time arranged, and the entire setup must be one of permanent value to the community and of constructive training to youth.

Nelson said that the society owning the land located northwest of the "Ligon home near old Highway 41, would offer no objection to part of the 31-acre tract being made into a roadside park.

The council gave its approval to such a project, with the understanding that the city may furnish aid in some form, such as materials. An arrangement has been made for an NYA office in the public library, Nelson stated, adding that NYA work here meant about $5,000 to the community.

Pension Survey
A communication from the League of Wisconsin Municipalities concerning pension systems was read by the city clerk. Some co-operative plan among Wisconsin municipalities, on an actuarial basis, was needed for a sound pension system, the letter said. Such a survey would cost about $2,000, and the city was asked if they would consider paying part of this cost.

Alderman T. L. Seggelink, chairman of the ordinance committee, said the league probably would be able to stand part of the expense, the rest of which would be divided among some 250 members, so that the share of any one city would be inconsiderable. The council then voted to cooperate in a survey was made.

Anton Berkens, representative of the American Surety Bond company, asked that his company's $50,000 bond on the city treasurer be renewed. The council referred the matter to the finance committee, which, after taking a recess to confer, decided that bids would be advertised for.

Letter From Union
A letter was read from the City Employees union, local 130, saying that the union desired a contract to be in effect after May 1. They are now working on an agreement which will be presented for discussion soon, the communication said.

Six bridge tenders were appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the council. They are Hiram O'Dell, Lawrence Boehm, Chris Kinder, Sr., William Plotz, Bernard Siebers and Albert Johnson.

A petition asking for a street light at the intersection of Terry lane and Augustine street was referred to the utility commission.

Object to Fill
It was reported to the council that a pit at the corner of Lave and McKinley streets had been objected to by property holders, who asked that it be filled up. Alderman Walter Cooper explained that property holders rejected an offer to fill it up in 1930, but suggested that if those who wished it now could get the permission of the owner of the land the north side road district would do it.

A tennis court, located across from the Lutheran school, owned by W. P. Ashe, was offered to the city on a lease providing the city pay the yearly taxes and keep the property in repair. The matter was referred to the board of public works.

An assessment roll for Augustine, Taft, Gertrude, Harrison and Idlewild streets, and Terry lane, scene of sewer projects, has been drawn. City Engineer Frank M. Charlesworth reported. Provisions are made for payment by installments. The monthly reports of the relief director, chief of police and electrical department were accepted. The official election returns were read and approved.

Legion Will Select Committee to Make Memorial Day Plans

Kaukauna—A committee to have charge of the Decoration day program of the American Legion, Electric City Post No. 41, will be appointed soon, it was announced yesterday. A meeting of the executive committee will be held at 7 o'clock tomorrow night at the Legion rooms.

Normal School Student Gets Teaching Position

Kaukauna—Fern Deering, West De Pere, became the fifth Outagamie Rural Normal school student to secure a teaching position for next fall yesterday. She will instruct at the Conradi school, town of Glenmore, Brown county.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Faculty Confers on Student Elections To Honorary Society

Kaukauna—Preparations for the 1938 election of Kaukauna High school students to the National Honor Society, a high scholastic honor, were begun today with a preliminary faculty committee meeting. Those on the committee are Miss Ethelyn Handran, Miss Edith Porterfield, Miss Alice Gruber, Paul E. Little, Thomas Nolan, James Lang and Miss Frances Corry.

A chapter of the National Honor Society was formed here last year, with a scholastic average of 87 or more a requirement for admission. In addition, candidates must have a record of participation in extra-curricular activities. Russell Toms, president of the chapter, Neil McCarty, vice president, Kathryn Van Lieshout, secretary-treasurer, Lillian Oliva, Dolores Landreman and Robert Cooper, now seniors, were elected to membership last year. As up to 15 per cent of the class may be elected, from ten to 12 additional members will be named by the faculty committee. Five per cent of the junior class, six or seven nominees, will be named soon, with five per cent of the sophomore class appointed as probationary members.

Northern State League Nine Asks For Free Lighting

Council Refers Request for Aid to Finance, Utility Committees

Kaukauna—A request for aid from the city for the Kaukauna league was made last night at the meeting of the common council.

Fay Posson, speaking for the team, said the nine was of great advertising value, and offered the city advertising space on scorecards in exchange for whatever aid they may see fit to give.

"The team has never made much money," Posson said, "and it is no more fair that we should ask support from the city as well as Kaukauna business men. He suggested the city give the club their current for lighting the park, an item which was $154 last year.

Referred to Committee
Alderman Walter Cooper said he didn't see how they could donate current, because then every other sport in the city could demand it as well. But the city could take payment through advertising matter on scorecards, Cooper added.

Alderman Raymond Nagel spoke in favor of doing more for baseball, pointing out that the city favored other groups through grants, playgrounds, tennis courts, etc., that with the addition of three new members the league should draw good crowds here this season, and was deserving of city support.

Alderman Walter Kilgas then reminded the council that there are two baseball clubs in town this year, the Fox Valley league also having a representative. Both should be treated alike, Kilgas said. The entire proposition was referred to the finance and utility committees, who will discuss it and report back to the council.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of these gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They help relieve and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Police Must Have Help Of Citizens, Club Told

Kaukauna—The work of a municipal police department, with special attention to the duties of the fingerprint men, was the subject yesterday of Otto Cronce, of the Green Bay police department, before the noon meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Kaukauna. Cronce was introduced to the club by Joseph LeFevre of the program committee, who presented him as a former Kaukauna youth.

"The police department of any community is no better than the cooperation of its citizens," Cronce began. Persons who fail to report any suspicious circumstances for fear the police will find no actual lawbreakers are not giving this co-operation, he said.

The backbone of a police department, according to Cronce, was the detective division, and inside this division fingerprints played an important role. Any crime in which the criminal is not apprehended at the time of its commission is turned over to the detective division for solving, and only their general success acts as a successful deterrent to future criminals, Cronce said.

Explains Prints
Methods of fingerprinting were explained by Cronce. There are two kinds, rolled and plain. In the former, the finger is placed, after inking, on the plate of glass, nail down, and then is rolled completely over. In the plain type all fingers are pressed down at the same time.

Cronce described the fact that under the Wisconsin statutes a suspect could refuse to have his fingerprints taken and be within the law.

"It has been my experience that if someone refuses to allow us to fingerprint him he either has done something criminal or is contemplating a criminal act," Cronce stated.

The working of the United States Department of Justice in its fingerprint aid to all law enforcing agencies was explained. This central organization aids local forces with no charge whatever, comparing all fingerprints submitted with the more than seven million on file in Washington.

Extensive File
Cronce cited statistics to illustrate the extent of the bureau's activities. More than 10,000 law enforcing agencies contribute to its files, with 520,000 requests for identification of prints using received in Washington last year. Cards on which persons' fingerprints are taken to send to Washington are furnished by the department of justice.

Cronce called attention to the growing menace of youthful crimes, stating that 13 per cent of major crimes last year were committed by persons under 21 years of age. Eighteen per cent of all offenses were committed by this group.

Boyd Urges More Frequent Test of City Milk Supply

Supervision Remains Inadequate, Health Officer Tells Council

Kaukauna—The supervision of the city's milk supply remains inadequate, Dr. C. D. Boyd, city health officer, reported to the council last night in his annual health report for the year ending March 31. He recommended that some provision be made for more frequent inspection and testing of this important food element.

Alderman Walter Cooper supported the city health officer, stating a recent case of scarlet fever may have been caused by bad milk, but adding that not enough money was now provided to permit the thorough inspection needed.

Alderman T. L. Seggelink suggested that milk dealers with sources of supply in more or less distant localities should pay an increased rate to cover expenses of inspecting their sources. No action was taken by the council.

Suggests Amendment
Dr. Boyd recommended that health ordinance be amended to put the duties of the city nurse under the board of health. "In my judgment the city nurse should not be a member of the board of health," Boyd reported. The committee of public health and education of the council will meet soon to consider the health officer's recommendations.

Another request was that the city relief director should make a decision on people who are city charges when medical attention is needed.

"It is provided that the health officer shall, when the charge is to be made against the city, pass on the necessity for medical service, particularly when surgery or hospitalization is advised.

"I recommend that this matter be studied by the committee of the common council with the view of including the relief director who should make a decision on those in this group who would be properly a city charge," Dr. Boyd's report said.

The city was reported fairly free from contagious diseases last year. There were no fatalities from scarlet fever or chicken pox, but there were two deaths from infantile paralysis. There were 103 births, 62 deaths and 79 marriages.

Minkebig Tops Individual Loop

Holds 3-Point Edge Over John Eimmerman in Final Standings

Kaukauna—Henry Minkebig led all Kaukauna keglers in the individual scratch league this year, according to final standings released yesterday. Minkebig finished with a 3-point edge over John Eimmerman, 62 to 59, and compiled a season's average of 191. Minkebig finished fast to overtake Eimmerman, who held the number one spot most of the time. Eimmerman averaged 185.

Two other bowlers had averages of more than 180. Charley Schell posted 183 and Amay Bayorgeon 187. Schell completed the year in third position with 55 points, and Bayorgeon's 46 point total was good for fifth place. Fourth went to E. A. Kalupa, who totaled 50 points and averaged 179.

The high single game of the year, 257, was rolled by Minkebig. Eimmerman rang up the season's high series, 691.

Other league bowlers, their points, and averages, were Jack Van Lieshout, 45, 175; Clifford Brandt, 45, 177; J. Scherer, 43, 176; R. Johnson, 41, 169; B. Gillett, 33, 161; E. Lamers, 29, 169, and W. Alger, 20, 158.

There were 15 days of bright sunshine last month, compared to 11 in March a year ago.

Best Lead Was Jack of Diamonds

BY ELY CULBERTSON
The often mentioned but seldom understood law of averages is not immutable, as is the law of gravity, for example. If just one apple were to fall upward from a tree we might well prepare for the sudden disintegration of our universe. "Probabilities" upon which are based our knowledge of "percentages" do not work along such narrow lines. It is by no means impossible for a coin tossed into the air to fall heads twenty times in a row. Such an event, however, is so rare that any individual who wagers even money on its occurrence should be locked up for observation. To a lesser degree this also applies to the bridge player who selects a line of play that has one chance, instead of another line that has three or four chances. Consider the "percentage" play involved in the following hand:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

♦ J 8 6 2
♣ A J 9

WEST
♠ 7 5 4 3 2
♥ A 10 5
♦ None
♣ 7 6 4 2

EAST
♠ K J 9
♥ K Q 4 3
♦ K 10 4
♣ 8 5 3

SOUTH

♦ A Q 7 5 3
♣ K C 10

The bidding:
South West North East
1 diamond Pass 2 diamonds Pass
2 no trump Pass 3 no trump Pass
Pass Pass

The bidding was identical at seven tables in a recent duplicate game and in every case West opened the fourth spade. Some declarers went up with dummy's queen, others let the lead ride to the A-10. But, since East had both the king and jack, this was immaterial. South lost his only spade stopper immediately. With the heart suit wide open it was apparent that the only hope of fulfilling the contract depended on running the diamond suit without losing the lead. No other consideration was involved. The K-10-4 of diamonds were outstanding. As we know, with only ten of a suit, missing the king, the proper play is to finesse, not to play for a drop. Therefore, if the diamond king is in West's hand, whether guarded or unguarded, it will make, since there is no reason to violate this rule of play. All right, we must finesse, but in precisely what manner? Entering dummy with a club, should we lead a low diamond and finesse to the queen, or lead the jack and, if it is not covered, let it ride?

The answer to this is simple when we consider the possible distributions of the missing diamonds. If East has the king blank, the K-10 or the K-4, it does not matter what diamond we lead from dummy. We are perfectly safe. There is a possibility, however, that East holds all three of the missing diamonds, and in that case it will be fatal to lead low to the queen. East, of course, will not split his honors. He will put the four on the deuce. The queen holds but, when West fails to follow, our doom becomes plain. East still has the K-10 and no manner of play can shut out his trick. Dummy's diamond jack, the doom would be transferred to East. If he covered, our ace would win and, since West would show out, another finesse would be established against the ten spot. If East ducked, the jack would hold. Thus, since there is nothing to lose in any case by leading the jack, and something to gain in one case, this selection becomes the "percentage" play.

I regret to report that, of the seven declarers, only two led the jack instead of a low diamond through East, and, hence, only two fulfilled their contract.

Old Gardener Says:
Last year many garden makers grew the new cosmos Sensation and found it unusually satisfactory. At that time the seeds could be obtained only in mixed colors of pink and white. This year, however, separate colors, which will enable the gardener to work out combinations in the garden more satisfactorily, are available. These new varieties of the Sensation strain are being called Pinkie and Purty, the colors being obvious from the names. The Sensation cosmos are particularly desirable because of their early-flowering habit, coming into bloom in July and producing an abundance of flowers from that time until frost. The blossoms are also very large, often being four inches across. These pink and white cosmos produce an airy and graceful effect in the garden and are excellent for cutting.

Wise Mother Keeps Record Of Her Baby's Early Life

BY ANGELO PATRI
Mothers are busy people. They overlook many things. They must. But there is one job that should not be overlooked because it is so very important. I mean, keeping the baby's Record Book.

A record of the baby's life, set down from time to time, can be of the greatest help. It is so easy to forget. Confused memories are plentiful, so keep a record. Then when a question arises about the health or the management of the child and you need accurate information, you have it. It is in the Record Book. It is worth while to know whether it was John or Tom who had measles at two; whether John walked at ten months or at two years; whether he got his first tooth at six months or at one year. These things do make a difference. Sometimes they carry a lot of meaning. All these things are important and repay you for all the effort it cost to set them down.

John has a temper tantrum at ten o'clock in the morning; he refuses to have his coat and hat put on; he refuses to have them taken away; he cries and kicks and screams; he has never behaved like this before. Write that story in the record book. By and by you will find that you have a picture of the child as he is, a history of him as he has been; it tells you much that you need to know.

And put down the good things, the happy things. These are important, too. If the child has an unusually good day, tell about it. If he was pleased by something or somebody, set it down. His reactions tell you something about his tastes and tendencies—all very useful when you have to make a decision about his education, or his training. You won't have to guess; you will know.

Read and re-read the record every once in a while. You may discover that the child is forming an unfortunate habit, and you will set

Suggests Treatment For Neck

BY ELSIE PIERCE
No, you don't want a swan's neck, really. You prefer one that is not dead white, but has some pink and yellow human pigment in it. But you do want it as fair as scrubbing and bleaching and liquid powder base can make it. And you see by your mirror that your neck is shades darker than your skin. Charge that to fur collars and cloth collars and confess that your neck has not had quite the tender, frequent care that your face has.

Make up to it by scrubbing a little longer and stronger when you scrub your face. Spend a few extra minutes on your throat. Use a good, bland soap, warm water and complexion brush or wash cloth. Work in a rotary movement until circulation is up and your throat is a deep pink. Then rinse thoroughly in warm, then cold water. Dry gently with turkish towel. Now smooth on some circulation cream or a bleaching preparation or mask. Follow directions. After this is removed apply a rich emollient cream or a special throat cream or jelly or any favorite that you know will soothe and soften the skin and also firm.

Firmness and Poise
You may not want a dead white skin, but you do want your throat firm and stretched and poised like a swan's. That's where the analogy comes in. Posing with an elegant and wearing a tie-up for a half hour a day will help to keep flabbiness and sagging at bay.

And exercise will make for poise. You don't even have to go through the routine of exercise if you find that too monotonous. If you're a young mother, or aunt or if you have to borrow a baby because you can't use your imagination (try blowing balloons, burst a few, it's good for you, puff out your cheeks, work. Blow bubbles, too. Blow feathers. It will delight the baby, keep your throat firm, keep you young in spirit and keep mouth lines away.

If you can go through the routine of head bending and neck stretching, send self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope for my Chin and Neck Exercises.

In his later study, Galileo found a fourth moon, also fast-moving. The four moons were named Io, Europa, Ganymede and Callisto.

Until the year 1892, no other moon was seen near Jupiter. Then an astronomer named Barnard found another—a small one with a diameter of only about 100 miles.

During the present century, four more moons which go around Jupiter have been discovered. They were located with the help of photographic taken through telescopes.

With a small telescope, or a strong field glass, you may be able to see four moons of Jupiter. To do this, you will need to get up early in the morning, for Jupiter is now a "morning star" and will not be seen again in the evening sky until August.

Two of Jupiter's moons—the ones known as Callisto and Ganymede—are larger than the planet Mercury. Two others are about the size of the earth's moon.

The moons of Jupiter are too far away for us to learn about their surface markings. Perhaps they have mountains and valleys like the earth's moon.

Working Wife Shouldn't Stand for Lazy Husband

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—I am 31 years old. Have been married for two months to a man who was the only boy in a family of four sisters and who has been badly spoiled by them. Here is the set-up: I work nine hours a day in an office doing very difficult work on financial statements that must be absolutely accurate, so I am under a great strain. My husband has no job. I support the family. He does not get up in the morning until 10 o'clock and spends the balance of the day loafing around. He takes my pay envelope and refuses to give me back even enough to buy my lunches, but when he gets any money he never even lets me see the check. He treats me with absolute indifference. Reads at the table. Grouches. Seldom speaks to me. Never does a hand's turn of housework and I have to get the meals when I come home tired from the office. I am getting discouraged and nervous. What can I do to better the situation? I have never said a word to my husband about not working.

A PERPLEXED BRIDE.

DOROTHY DIX
Answer:
I had supposed that Patient Griselda left no lineal descendants, but evidently you are her daughter and inherited all of her meekest characteristics. Your place is neither in a home nor a counting house. You should be in a museum of Human Freaks where people could go and look at you, and wonder how you got that way and what made you stand such a husband any longer than it took you to put on your hat and leave.

No doubt humility and self-sacrifice, self-abnegation and the martyr spirit are all very admirable abstract virtues, but when you concretely put them into action they can be the most deadly crimes that any one can commit.

They can sap manhood. They can kill ambition. They can do away with incentive. They can foster selfishness. They can develop tyranny. They can make a weak person weaker; a grasping person more greedy; a mean person meaner, until they blot out every good quality in the individual.

That is what you are doing to your husband by your slavish support of him and making a doormat of yourself for him to kick around, and by your taking all of his arrogance and ill-temper without any protest and by your encouraging him in his spoiled-baby ways.

I am all for peace in the family; for a wife making every reasonable effort to get along with her husband and biting her tongue half in two to keep from making a snappy comeback to a man who comes home tired and nerve-racked after a hard day's work. But there is a time for silence and a time for speech. The psychological moment has come for you to stiffen your backbone and read the Riot Act to your husband.

Begin by telling him that you are not going to support him any other day after that he can go back to Mama and stay with her until he gets a job; that you are not going to stand for his lying in bed until 10 o'clock waiting for work to come and rout him out. That he has got to get up and look for it. Furthermore, that he has to look pleasant while he stays around your house. And, above all, keep your own money.

You have to use drastic methods to wake up this Weary Willie whom you have married in order to make him make a man of himself, and you owe it to him to do it. If there is anything in him, he will thank you for bringing him to his senses. If there isn't you are well rid of a bad bargain.

Dear Miss Dix—I am one of a large family, all of whom are married. My husband and I live at the old home and take care of my mother, who is past 80. She is a dear and is a great happiness to me to do what I can for her. The other children are all in good circumstances. They come to see Mother and tell her about their money, their trips, and so forth, until I could scream, but they never bring her any little treat or contribute to her support in any way. Worse still, it takes all that my husband and I can make to pay for their entertainment, for they often stay two or three weeks at a time. What can I do about it, for they are literally eating us out of house and home?

WORRIED.

I think you should write a note to your brothers and sisters telling them that you love to have them come, but that you just simply can't afford to feed them, and that you will appreciate very much if they will make things easier for you by paying a moderate board when they visit Mother. They must be very selfish if they do not see this for themselves and refrain from delectating their way.

UNUSUAL BRIDGE
Dear Mrs. Post: Necessary for the host and hostess to play bridge when they give a bridge party at home? You have, I believe, written that a non bridge-playing hostess may still give a bridge party for her bridge playing friends, and I wondered whether this would also be permissible if her husband and she gave a party together and neither of them played.

Answer: It is entirely permissible if she and her husband are willing to spend the evening merely looking on. This is, of course, done constantly when one plays and the other does not. It is not usual when neither plays, to ask people in to play bridge simply because it is not very amusing for themselves. On the other hand, they may enjoy looking on. In fact, I might add that those who do not yet play very well and are eager to learn would be much wiser to sit quietly and watch and at the same time learn as much as they can, than to attempt to play with others whose game outranks their own.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have taken a table for three guests and myself at a charity bridge party. Should I by some turn of fate (which I assure you would leave my husband agast) win a prize, as hostess of my table will I perhaps seem discourteous in keeping it? In my own house, of course, I would not even add my score but I've never been this kind of hostess that I'm writing about.

Answer: Your position as hostess in this case is too impersonal to

Over 300 Attend School Sessions At Clintonville

'Open House' Held in High School and Grade Buildings

Clintonville — More than 300 adults visited the Clintonville public schools Tuesday evening when "open house" was held at the grade building and the high school. Upon arriving at the school, each visitor was given a complete program of the various classes enabling him to visit the ones in which he was most interested. Periods were reduced to 15 minutes so that an entire day's schedule was conducted from 7:30 to 10:30 in the evening. Officers of the student council were stationed at various points in the corridors to give information to visitors and to direct them to the numerous class rooms.

From 8:50 to 9:10, an interval corresponding to the noon intermission, Superintendent Harley J. Powell talked to a large gathering in the main assembly room. He explained the major objectives of a high school education.

The first of these, he said, is the objective of "literacy" by which there is cultivated in each pupil the skill necessary for reading, writing, and for the interpretation of numbers. Today, this means more than the mere ability to read simple articles and figure simple problems as was the case in years gone by.

The objective of "scientific knowledge" important as this is the age of science, said Mr. Powell, is the aim of the school to cultivate in each child the ability to consult independently the sources and records of such knowledge as the need may arise.

Explaining the third objective of "orderly thinking and inquiry," the superintendent stated that in high school the students are taught to employ methods of experimental investigation in attacking problems which concern him.

"Social Efficiency" was ranged as the fourth major objective, which induces the pupil to master practically such present day techniques and usages which may be judged essential to the activities of the home, neighborhood, school, civic community, vocation and recreation. It is also the aim of the high school to cultivate in each pupil such general attitudes, points of view, and principles of conduct as may be most likely to insure his continuing performance of essential social functions.

The objective of "democratic idealism" is promoted in the local high school through the activities of a student council composed of hundreds of students willing to abide by certain rules of behavior and who choose their own governing officers. This body familiarizes the young people with modern democratic forms of government.

The sixth objective of "self expression" provides every possible opportunity for each pupil to develop and exercise special interests of his own that promise growth, happiness, and personal integration. Besides athletics, vocal and instrumental music, manual arts and domestic science, Superintendent Powell said that it is planned to add a course in art to the high school curriculum next year.

Following this talk to the parents and friends, classes of the afternoon periods were conducted. Among the various classes on the program were those in typing, shorthand, English, Latin, German, physics, civics, biology, chemistry, agriculture, manual training, physical education history and others.

In each class, the instructor explained the course of study and other points of interest.

Girls of the domestic science department served coffee and cookies during the evening to visitors to their class rooms. Exhibits of work done by the various classes were on display in the halls of the high school building.

Freshman Leading Neenah Athletes In School Events

Laverne Graham Piles Up 201 Points in Intramural Activities

Neenah — Having earned 143 points in intramural athletic activities, Laverne Graham, a freshman, is leading 201 Neenah High school boys who have competed so far this year. Ole Jorgensen, athletic director, said this morning.

Richard Lemberg is leading the senior class with 129 points. Forty-four senior boys have taken part in the intramural program. Victor Metz is ahead of 41 boys in the junior class with 125 points, while W. Dimpke is leading the 63 sophomores with 134 points.

Points are recorded on the bases of the number of activities in which the boys compete. At the end of the school year, medals will be awarded to the four leaders in each class.

Robert Ryan who has scored 90 points is second in the senior division, while Dale Dodge is third with 81 points and G. Herman is fourth with 80. D. Young is second in the junior class with 118 points, while R. Bunker is third with 102 points, and R. Kloss and G. Smith are tied for fourth with 92. K. Foth is second in the sophomore class with 110 points, G. Gibson is third with 102 points, and R. Schmidt is fourth with 97 points. R. Mead is second in the freshman class with 122 points, J. Draheim is third with 120 points and W. Jonsche is fourth with 82 points.

Variety of Activities
The intramural activities which are scheduled for this spring are baseball, golf, horseshoe, tennis, and track. The boys have earned points by competing in the following activities: badminton, basketball, basketball golf, basketball rapid fire, boxing, checkers, chess, free throws, hockey, lacrosse, ping-pong, rope climbing, shuffleboard, speed ball, tennis, tug of war, volleyball, wrestling, Indian wrestling and bowling.

Jorgensen pointed out today that there are no eligibility rules for intramural sports in fact the boys who aren't eligible to compete in interscholastic sports are encouraged to take part in the intramural program. The only restriction is that lettermen are not allowed to compete in the intramural sport in which they earned their letters.

One of the features of the intramural activity is that it offers boys who haven't physical or natural ability for interscholastic competition to be winners in the sports they like, Jorgensen said.

Mapping Project at Neenah Is Approved By WPA Authorities

Neenah — A. G. Prunuske, city engineer, reported today that a new project for continuing the engineering department's extensive mapping project which will cost approximately $10,187 has been approved by the Works Progress administration.

The purpose of the project is to provide employment for needy, professional, educational and clerical persons in conducting a field survey of the city.

The survey will include pencil sketches on location of residences, garages, other structures, manholes, catch basins, sewers, water mains, telephone poles, light poles and curbs and gutters by blocks; preparing tracings showing building dimensions, locations, set backs, locating and tracing sanitary sewers, water and gas lines, and existing tracings, drawings and blue prints and making duplicate assessors appraisal cards.

The project has been in progress for about a year and a great deal of the work already has been done, Prunuske said. About 12 men will work on the job.

Sewage Plant to Keep Lake Clean, Kiwanians Told

Members Inspect Neenah-Menasha Disposal System

Neenah — Stating that the purpose of the Neenah-Menasha sewage disposal plant was to make this vicinity cleaner, healthier and more pleasant to live in through the rehabilitation of Little Lake.

Butte des Morts, J. M. Holderby, plant superintendent, told Kiwanians at a noon meeting Wednesday at the Valley Inn that while Little Lake Butte des Morts no longer was being polluted, it would take considerable time before the lake would revert to its natural purity by dispersing of deposits which are lying on the bottom and along the shores.

Following an explanation of the functions of the sewage disposal plant, the superintendent conducted club members on a tour of the plant.

"More than 10 tons of solids and thousands of gallons of liquid waste are kept out of the lake every day and disposed of by the plant," the superintendent said. "A former member of the state board of health said. He said that the lake has an inherent capacity of 'reverting to its natural purity,' but because of the hundreds of tons of waste deposits already in it, time is needed for the lake to become clean again."

Built for Future
Holderby described the plant as a "large plant fitted to a medium size community" and capable of taking care of large future growth. He said that nine-tenths of the waste treated by the plant comes from industrial sections of the two cities, while one-tenth is from domestic sections.

Pointing out that the problem facing the commission today is the lowering of costs of operation by excluding unharmed waste, such as rain water, from coming into the plant. "If the public will cooperate by disconnecting roof drains and cistern overflow pipes from sanitary sewers, the cost of operating the plant will be reduced and the efficiency of operation will be increased," he said.

Because of so much rain water flowing into the plant during an ordinary storm, the cost of operation is increased from $50 to $100 in 30 minutes, he explained. The commission, he said, is carrying out an educational campaign in an effort to have property owners allow their drains to flow onto the lawns or into storm sewers. "If this doesn't work, an enforcement policy will have to be started," he added.

McKenzie on improvement bonds.

Council Approves Sanitary Sewers, Water Mains Jobs

Abandons Plan to Widen S. Lake Street at Meeting Wednesday

Neenah — Two ordinances, one for installation of water mains and the other for installation of sanitary sewers and laterals, were adopted at the meeting of the city council last night at the city hall. The council, upon the suggestion of Alderman William Schmidt, also voted to abandon the plan of widening S. Lake street from Main to Adams street.

Upon the recommendation of the waterworks commission, the council voted to install water mains on Stevens street, Congress place, Congress, Cecil, Julie, Irene and Lorraine street, while sanitary sewers and laterals will be installed on the same streets.

A 50-foot thoroughfare on S. Lake street was adopted as the result of Alderman Schmidt's motion that the council abandon a former plan of widening the street to 66 feet, and strips of city owned land between the street and private property will be reverted to the original owners. Sidewalks installed by property owners in accordance with the former plan will be replaced by the city.

Canvass Vote
After canvassing votes and declaring city officials elected Tuesday duly elected, the council voted to have an appraisal made of school and city owned property at a cost of $2,250. Recommendation for the appraisal was made by Alderman Emil C. Harder, chairman of the finance committee.

The appraisal will be made of all city schools, library, city hall, waterworks plant and garage by the Lloyd Thomas company, and it will include a complete inventory of all city owned equipment. The purpose of it is to reduce insurance rates.

Alderman Carl Loehning, chairman of the streets, sidewalks and bridges committee, reported that the summer sidewalk repair program would get underway next week. The program will be under WPA. Loehning said that property owners whose sidewalks are below grade will be asked to install new sidewalks on correct grade. He pointed out that the change will have to be made eventually, and at 14 cents per square foot, the cost is as low as it ever will be. Aldermen George MacDonald and John F. Kunsche suggested a citywide campaign for lowering terraces.

Buy New Helmets
The council voted to purchase 13 new helmets at a cost of $50 each for the fire department, and authorized the employment of a special policeman to fill a temporary vacancy.

Unit Forces
Suggestions presented by Mrs. Harwood as she answered her own question include uniting of all conservation forces into one powerful group which will, by its voting strength and power when called upon locally or nationally, demand non-political, fair and intelligent handling of our country's natural resources, awakening of people within the community to the realization that our homes, health and industries are dependent for their very existence upon natural resources, demands by citizenry that local and national congressional representatives given intelligent, fair and non-political consideration of all measures designed to protect and restore the county's natural resources.

Mrs. Harwood also explained the General Wildlife Federation, its purpose and its organization.

Republicans Meet In Madison to Map Campaign Strategy

Two Party Groups in Joint Meeting to Iron Out Differences

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Signaling the start of what advance reports suggest will be their most vigorous campaign in years, leaders of the Republican party in Wisconsin will meet here Saturday to lay 1938 plans and to inject a fighting spirit into an organization which has been inactive since its 1936 defeat at the polls by Governor LaFollette and his slate of Progressives.

Both the Republican statutory state central committee, headed by temporary Chairman William Knauf of Chilton, and the voluntary group, led by Chairman Edward J. Samp of Madison, will be at the capital Saturday for their first meeting of the year. The groups will meet jointly, Samp said here yesterday, but will also probably hold sessions separately.

Early Convention
Big items on the program for the committee leaders are 1938 organization, which Samp has already begun with his voluntary committee's resources, and the matters of convention and nominations.

Strong sections of the Republican organization in Wisconsin, it is understood, want the practice of convention endorsements of state candidates abolished in favor of a wide open primary nomination, and also favor a state convention earlier than usual in order to force the campaign on the Progressive state administration.

In 1936 the convention was held in July in order to prevent a conflict with the Republican national gathering at Cleveland. The customary month for the state meeting is June. This year it will be earlier if the more enthusiastic leaders carry their desires.

Elect Chairman
The regular committee is also expected to choose a permanent chairman to succeed Cyrus Phillips, resigning. The chairman, it is said, must be a man who will offer a strenuous leadership in the forthcoming campaigns. Preferences have been expressed for a young man. Acting chairman is Knauf, who succeeded by virtue of his vice chairmanship of the committee.

Assorted rumors of factionalism, ambitions from the ranks, and candidacies of various Republicans will also have an airing at the committee sessions Saturday, it is expected. Samp has announced that a successor will be chosen to fill the vacancy in the Eighth congressional district representation of the voluntary committee caused by the resignation several weeks ago of Mrs. R. C. Flanders of Oconto. Male member representing the Eighth district is Orville Hegner of Appleton. Other members from the Appleton area who will attend the meeting of the voluntary committee are M. G. Everlein of Shawano, Mrs. Levi Peterson of Waupaca, seventh district; Chester Shepard of Neenah and Mrs. Margaret Hess of Appleton, Sheboygan county, sixth district.

Royal Neighbors Have Their Monthly Meeting

Shiocton—Members of the Royal Neighbors lodge held their April meeting at Odd Fellows hall Tuesday evening. After the regular business session cards furnished the entertainment and a lunch was served.

Prizes at schafkopf were awarded to Mrs. Steele, high, and Mrs. Charles Feller, low, and at schmeer, Mrs. Frank Shepherdson, high, and Mrs. Milo Thompson, low. The hostesses included Mrs. Ed Rueden, Mrs. Clark Wilcox and Mrs. Emil Santkyl. The May meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Harvey Pooler and Mrs. Rudolph Leach.

Miss Lilah Pederson entertained her sewing circle at her home Tuesday evening. Mrs. Alice Felsen will be hostess to the club next week.

Wednesday evening services were in charge of the Rev. W. A. Jacobs of Menasha and Thursday evening the Salvation Army of Appleton will have charge. Friday evening the Rev. Charles Wicks of Eau Claire, field superintendent of Wisconsin, will conduct the services. This will complete the services for the week.

A bakery shop was opened in the Metz building the last week with William Bentle, Jr., of Appleton as proprietor.

Alvin Metz, owner of the building, is remodeling the two-story structure. The lower floor will be used as the bakery. The upper floor is being divided into two apartments. One will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bentle and the other by Mrs. Leitzke and family.

The election dinner served by the Willing Workers at the Congregational church parlors Tuesday noon was well attended.

Woodrow Williams, who has been absent from his duties as principal of the Shiocton State Graded school for the last seven weeks, was able to return to his work Monday morning. Mr. Williams' absence was due to an operation, after which he was confined to his home at Clintonville. During his illness Mrs. Wilford Spehr of Shiocton acted as his substitute.

Richard Locke has moved his family to the village and will occupy rooms in the Louis Locke residence.

The election dinner served by the Willing Workers at the Congrega-

Shiocton, is a patient at the Community hospital, New London, where she is receiving treatment.

ON HIS CONSCIENCE

Bradford, Pa.—(AP)—A childhood prank of 48 years ago weighed heavily on the conscience of an Olean, N. Y. man.

He wrote Mayor Hugh J. Ryan a letter, relating that "way back in 1890" he visited the old fairgrounds at South Bradford. But instead of paying an admittance fee, he crawled under the fence. The thought of the act had disturbed him all these years, he wrote, and now he would like to

PETRIFIED APPLE
Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—Horticulturists have saved in two a heavy object owned by Charles A. Schrader and decided it is a petrified apple. They even have identified the seeds.

The 14-ounce object was found in a shipment of Pennsylvania anthracite, looks like an apple and is pale green in color. It is believed it was carried into a coal mine by a workman and that some peculiar quality in the underground air petrified it.

Boy Scouts and Their Troops

To aid in the commemoration of Wildlife week, a period set aside by the president of the United States, a number of troops throughout the valley have constructed bird feeders, houses, and other types of wild life equipment as a supplementary project of their regular handicraft work.

The scouts of Troop 31, Kaukauna, have been asked to continue their construction of wildlife equipment and to aid wild animal life whenever an opportunity presents itself. Hearing a suggestion made by Walter G. Dixon, scout executive, at the gathering of the Valley Council Press club reporters last month, the troop has decided to procure a scrapbook and make a collection of newspaper clippings pertaining to its activities. The Green Bar patrol has been appointed to supervise the activity. Business routine of the last meeting of the troop included the presentation of a detailed report of the last Green Bar patrol meeting by Orris Schmalz, scoutmaster. An announcement has been made to the effect that reports regarding camp equipment are to be turned in. A portion of the merit badge show equipment has already been turned over to Orville Yngling, assistant scoutmaster. Handicraft equipment, consisting of tools and leather articles, were presented to the group. All scouts who have had instruction in manual training were suggested to aid in constructing several mallets to be used for leather work. Following the regular scout meeting, a special Green Bar patrol meeting was called. Visitors to the meeting included Walter G. Dixon, scout executive.

Gardner Dam Trip
Those who made the three day Gardner Dam camping trip starting Friday, March 25, included a group of pioneer scouts, merit badge counselors, committeemen, troop leaders, and patrol leaders of Troop 26, Marion. The troop's first aid team recently presented a first aid demonstration to the Northeastern Wisconsin Firemen's Association. Included in the team's exhibition was a demonstration of the first and second class requirements. The troop band, organized several weeks ago, is making rapid progress. The formation of new patrols, the effecting of the troop, and a 4-man first aid contest, among the most interesting features of the last meeting of Troop 3, Menasha. Due to a rally week, which netted the Jeep patrol 500 points, the inter-patrol contest order is as follows: First, the Jeeps under Roman Zimmerman; second, the patrol under the supervision of Hugh Strange; third, Albert Krutz's octet; and fourth, Hohnberger's patrol. The patrol led by Hugh Strange was most successful in its treatment of the victim of a hit-and-run accident, and, as a result, it was the winner of the first aid contest. Members of the winning patrol were Bill Thompson, Don Gred, Bob McMahon, and Frank Heckrodt. The patrol under Hohnberger, Krutz, and Zimmerman followed in respective order. Prior to the adjournment of the meeting a trip to the Oshkosh museum was planned. The campfire spirit was instilled in the members of Troop 43, Neenah, at their last meeting, since plans for the spring show were discussed. A lesson on how to make a knife shield and an axe shield was given by Mr. Anderson. The narration of a story by Richard Billings, scoutmaster, provided the entertainment for the evening.

Girl Ras Received Instruction at 28 Different Schools

Cleveland—The odyssey of 19-year-old Marcella Glinz has taken her to 28 different schools. Marcella was born in Effingham, Ill. When she was 3 her family moved to Cincinnati. Her father was a bricklayer and as he went from job to job the family moved with him, traveling by automobile. The Glinzes left Cincinnati to go to Chicago. There, Marcella spent two years in a parochial school. Then came short stays in two towns in North Carolina and Virginia. For a while, the wanderers moved from town to town within the state of New York. As Marcella remembers it, she was graduated from grammar school in Buffalo. But there have been so many schools... it's hard to tell... "I can remember more school yards than I can toes," she says. During her freshman and sophomore years in high school she was a student in Middletown, Ithaca, Amenia, Dover Plains and Buffalo. Now, in Cleveland, she hopes to stay long enough to get her high school diploma. She has more than a collection of textbooks to remind her of her travels. School friends are numbered by the score. "I get lots of mail," she says. "I guess it wasn't so bad."

MAKE WAR ON MICE
Barnwell, S. C.—Farmers in this section say country mice are just as bad as their city cousins, maybe worse. One kind eats melon, cantaloup and cucumber seed in the field before they can sprout. Another breed cut off the growing plants and cause the farmers no end of trouble.

The best remedy so far found is a poison mixed with cane syrup. It is used on old melon seed, grain, peanuts or small pieces of cheese and scattered around where the mice will eat it instead of the planted seed.

The Boxwood Barrier

THE STORY SO FAR: Judith Goodloe has the code of an old Maryland family to live up to. Reuben Oliver, who has pulled himself up by his bootstraps, has wealth and ethics of his own making. Deeply loving Judith, Reuben proposes to her when the Goodloe finances collapse. Gary Brent, the man Judith loves, has left her. So Judith becomes engaged to Reuben after making clear that she does not love him.

Chapter 15
"Due For A Licking"

Reuben tried to prove that he was a better man than Gary in the only way he could - by showering things upon her. Each day brought wonderful gifts for Judith. Her favorite of them all, an Irish mare with foal -

"The Hunt Cup is as good as ours next year," Jim rubbed his hands in anticipation. "Won't it be great to have it under the roof once more?"

Life stretched a pleasant path for Jim's walking these days. Money - the one thing the Goodloe's lacked, came so easily, so magically, just when it was needed, that they accepted it almost as a matter of course, and forgot, as far as possible, its source. Not that Jim minded remembering. He liked Reuben and said often and openly: "You're a lucky girl, Judy."

Amanda's opinion was never expressed. If between herself and Reuben there was veiled enmity there was also a healthy, mutual respect. Amanda thawed to melow graciousness under the glow of prosperity. There was a competent staff of servants at Goodloe's Choice now. Amos walking proudly in new livery, forgot the price of Oolong, forgot, among other things, the hole in the boxwood hedge and who made it. Society reporters trumpeted wedding details far and wide. Judith's smiling face, Judith's fearless eyes gazed back from rotogravure sheets. Bridesmaids and flower girls gazed back. From a small inset in an inconspicuous corner, Reuben gazed back too. The most important wedding of the year the papers said.

Plans went forward. Judith bought clothes that were every maiden's dream. She visited Reuben's house. Made suggestions for this improvement and that. Made friends with Hugo. Praised rhododendrons -

"It's so glad your home is here, Reuben. I wouldn't marry you if I had to leave this valley. I couldn't bear to go away."

"It's going to be heaven!" Reuben said and believed it. Never again would he hear the call of the wild, or feel the urge for adventure. For purple twilight on vast expanses of white snow. The smell of bacon cooking in the open. A lone wolf's call. The sound of cracking ice, rushing waters - roar of logs sluicing down - Noise. Shouts. Struggle - all that was behind him. Just to live here in this quiet valley with Judith, to watch her vivid face, to touch her -

The whole world took on new meaning. He felt strangely in accord with its secrets. Every blade of grass, the leaves on the trees, the water in the creek, the fleecy clouds in the sky held out a promise of what life could and would be.

June lengthened into July. July slipped into August perfumed with the ripened harvest. If the reports from his banker and broker pointed out to Reuben that he was not as

Aldermen Make Canvass of Vote In City Election

One New Member Will be Seated at Next Regular Session of Council

New London — Official announcement of the results of Tuesday's election were made by Mayor E. W. Wendlandt at a meeting of the common council last night. The regular meeting was postponed a day because of the election.

Only one new alderman, Matt Clark from the Second ward, will be seated at the next regular meeting of the council April 19 when committee appointments also will be made. Fred J. Rogers will take over the police justice court May 1 in place of Fred A. Archibald who has served the last 10 years.

Tally sheets were found correct by an aldermanic committee of A. R. Margraff, William Litts and Harry Emans appointed by the mayor to canvass the record of votes. Expense accounts of candidates must be filed with the city clerk by Saturday.

Purchase Dynamite

John Viel was engaged by the council last night to care for the city parks again this summer at the same wage of $10 per week. The purchase of 200 pounds of dynamite was authorized for use by relief crews on the city's stone crushing project. On recommendation of Alderman Emans, the public property committee was authorized to make repairs at the Elizabeth Lehman home at 414 E. Pine street which is owned by the city. Emans reported the foundation of the porch is badly in need of repair.

The quarterly report of Building Inspector Victor Thomas and the February report of the relief department were accepted by the council. The building report showed the erection of one private garage for $150 and other construction amounting to $100 during the months of January, February and March. Fees totaled $4.

On motion of Lynd Springmire the city clerk was authorized to publish a notice to residents to refrain from piling spring rubbish in the gutter along the streets. Street department workers complain that the rubbish is swept into the sewers by draining water and cause much trouble by clogging catch basins and sewers.

Official clean-up week will be designated by Mayor Wendlandt as soon as weather conditions allow. May 1 has been the regular date in other years but an earlier week may be named because of the early spring.

New London's last Civil War veteran, the late Harley Heath, died in May, 1937. Widows of four veterans still live. Mrs. William Kroll, Mrs. Albert Stern, Mrs. Harley Heath and Mrs. Michael Pace.

An interesting history on the New London Henry-Turner post was presented by Mrs. Ed Kleinbrook, president of the Women's Relief corps. It was organized with 28 members in 1882, 16 years after the state and national units were formed. At one time it boasted 173 members. Mrs. Heath was the last member of the first meeting of the post were read by Mrs. L. S. McGregor, secretary of the W. R. C. Mrs. William Garot, treasurer, read some of the post's first bills. One dated March, 1883, was for $1.65 to Cline and Whelden for framing the post's charter. Another for $6.35 was for badges and one of $3.50 was to pay for musicians' meals and stabling of horses at a celebration in 1894.

Mrs. Irvia Darrow, senior vice president of the corps, read a tribute to General Grant, taken from the minutes of a special meeting of the post Aug. 1, 1885, the day of Grant's funeral. Mrs. R. R. Holliday, junior vice president, completed the program with several patriotic songs. Also at the luncheon were Mrs. L. J. Manske, Mrs. Nellie Wells and Mrs. Victor Thomas.

Club Will Discourage Use of Power Boats on Wolf During Pike Season

New London — Unnecessary cruising of power boats during the pike fishing season on the Wolf river, other than to and from fishing grounds, will be discouraged by the New London Boat club this year, according to a resolution adopted by the group at a recent meeting.

The action was prompted by reports in past years that boats made a practice of disturbing and speeding past fishermen on the open water. The fishing season opens Sunday and officers of the club have urged that all violations of the rule by club members be reported.

Boat owners not members of the club have been asked to follow the same practice of restricted cruising so as not to affect the goodwill of fishermen toward the boat club. All boats of the New London club are registered with the war department and numbered according to law, carry all necessary equipment such as fire extinguishers, life preservers and other requirements. Motor boats owners, unfamiliar with the laws governing power boats, have been invited to consult any member of the club for advice and assistance in registering their craft.

Boats anchored in open water between sunset and sunrise are required to carry a white light, close at hand so it may be shown in sufficient time to prevent a collision, it was pointed out by the club.

Present officers of the club are Arnold Kopitzke, commodore; Sherman Herres, vice commodore; Roy Kriehbiel, secretary; treasurer, Theodore Thomas; fleet captain, Robert Knapstein, lieutenant fleet captain, Ed Kopitzke, steward.

City Crew Begins Work On School Music Room

New London — Work on the music room at Washington High school started yesterday with a small crew of city workers. The first step is to make the doors leading to the basement level after which filling will be removed. Walter Schoenrock is supervising the work. Operations were delayed until plans for the improvement were approved by the Wisconsin Industrial commission at Madison.

It Is Said..

That student elections at Washington High school Tuesday exactly paralleled the vote of their elders except for one exception. The senior class chose the same candidates in nearly the same proportion as the city vote except that of city attorney. Capener was given the majority by one vote, 42 to 41 for Putnam. Results in the citizenship class were the same as the actual election but balloting was more one-sided and all winning candidates were given a generous majority. Wendlandt polled 52 student votes for mayor to 22 for McDonnell.

Irmas Hats	49	35
Prahls News	41	43

New London — Women in costumes caused a mild sensation at Prahls' alley's last evening as the Girls' club league turned out in full comic regalia to celebrate the last evening on their bowling schedule.

The leading Carter-Hansons also led in imaginative and comical make-up, the four appearing as the Marx brothers, Harpo, Groucho, Chico and Zeppo, only all appeared more like Harpo and Chico. Red, yellow, black and white mops provided hair. They wore old shirts and small pants with the legs torn off short, besides all the ridiculous trimmings. To quote the capacity audience that soon filled the spectator space, they were "a scream."

Members of the New London Construction company team appeared in overalls with paper masons' hats. Irmas Hats all wore 10-gallon headgear of the old "nineties" or earlier. Prahls' News labeled themselves the Old Timers and came dressed in long, dark old fashioned dresses.

Despite the comedy the scores were pretty good. The Constructioners hitting a 633 game and 1685 total for the 4-man team. Mrs. R. V. Prahls was high individual with a 103 game and 454 series. The team took two from Carter-Hansons and the two from the latter's supremacy when Irma's Hats gained two from Prahls' News to fall one game behind.

Individual high marks for the season are held by Mrs. Frank Myers, 546; Miss Dorothy Stern, 251. Carter-Hansons hold the team to.

wealthy as he had been, he reminded himself such fluctuations were to be expected.

Before he came to Maryland the loss of $5 would have sent him raving over the coals of his affairs like a frenzied wild cat. Now, lulled by the serene valley, blissful with the new element in his life, he let things drift until the serpent entered his paradise.

"Broken Down Aristocrat" It came in the form of Clem Rogers.

Clem, fat, florid, perspiring, arrived one morning just as Reuben was sitting down to breakfast.

"Hi, Reuben, you son of a tinker! Hope you've got an extra cup of coffee in the old pot?"

"Clem! You old river rat! It's grand to see you! How are you?"

"How should I be?" Clem divested himself of coat, collar, tie and flung all into a nearby chair. "I'm hungry as a pile driver."

Reuben rang for the colored boy. "Coffee, bacon—How will you have your eggs?"

"Four sunny-side up," Clem ordered, "and get a move on you." He looked critically around the dining room with its heavy oak beams. "Cissy says this is supposed to be some dug-out—I dunno!"

"Suits me," Reuben said. "Old ruins usually prove expensive. Cheaper to tear down and build up new."

Reuben did not argue this point. "How's Cissy?"

"Mad as a March hare. Flying like an eagle and spending money faster than a horse can trot."

He pushed back his bushy gray hair and looked at his host from eyes not unlike his daughter's. "So you're getting married?"

"In 27 days."

"Humph! To a broken down aristocrat?"

"To the only woman I ever wanted to marry."

"Humph!" Clem reached for his coat, took out a well seasoned pipe, looked at it speculatively. "Love can play havoc with a fellow. Better be sure as shooting before you leap."

"I'm sure."

"How do you know you are?" Clem hitched his chair closer. "It's none of my business and I wish you luck, but I'm giving some advice too."

"Go ahead."

"I'm a fool to do it," sagely, "but I've seen quite a few lads, who made a couple of fly-by-night millions, come East, break their banks and their hearts over a woman."

"I won't do that, Clem."

"The heck you won't! You're different already."

"How?"

"Dunno—exactly. You were so cocky as all out o' doors back home. Reuben smiled. "I was younger. But he sensed a vague truth in Clem's criticism. Judith's mild ridicule the day he fell from his horse, Amanda's barbed thrusts, the feeling that they were merely tolerant of him, and undoubtedly made him less sure of himself. He went forward slowly now like one whose sight is not quite true."

Clem's breakfast arrived. He was noisily busy for several minutes. After he poured a second cup of coffee he said "You're wondering what brought me?"

Reuben nodded. There were few words wasted between these two. "Unless you come West as quick and as straight as the crow flies—it's bad news, Reuben! I hate like the dickens to tell you."

"Shoot!" lighting a cigaret.

"The Lottie Justis is going dry on us."

"The Devil To Pay!" Reuben held the match in his fingers until it burned them. "It couldn't be. That pocket goes down to China."

"I was sure of it when I advised you to sink your money in it."

"There's something wrong with the drills," Reuben said evenly but fear clutched him like a giant hand. "I had every pump and drill overhauled when the output started to fall off." Clem lighted his old, strong pipe. "They're right as trivets."

"They're wrong if the oil won't flow. I'm flying back with you."

"Get your coat."

Reuben walked to the door. "Give me an hour."

"Going to see your sweetie?" Clem hazarded.

"Um—"

"I'd like to give her the once over myself."

"I'm proud to show her."

"Better tell her the truth," Clem advised when they were in Reuben's roadster on the way to Goodloe's Choice, "and instead of having a lot of frills, better marry her today and take her back to Warden."

"Take—Judith—to Warden?"
